Two Huge Ships Sunk In Latest A-Bomb Bikini Test

Arkansas And Saratoga Sunk In Bikini Blast

Nine Of Target Ships Sunk By Underwater Atomic Bomb Explosion

MANY OTHER SHIPS BADLY DAMAGED

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

ABOARD USS APPALACHIAN, Off Bikini, July 25.—Eyewitnesses investigating late today gave a partial picture of the damage wrought by the world's first underwater atomic explosion, with at least nine of the 87 Bikini target ships settling on the bottom of the lagoon and many more damaged.

Although intense radioactivity in the center of Bikini lagoon prevented full close-up evaluation of results, the battleship Saratoga and the veteran carrier Arkansas as well as five submarines and two smaller craft were already listed as sunk by history's fifth atomic bomb detonation.

Arkansas Sinks
The 34-year-old Arkansas, veteran of two world wars, disappeared from view within five minutes of the fearful sub-surface blast and the Saratoga sank several hours later. Air observers reported that five of the six submarines that had been submerged at various depths for the test were driven to the bottom of the 180-foot deep lagoon. A sixth submarine, the Tuna, which was submerged at periscope (Continued on Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

Lady golfers of the Dubber Dollies league at Castle Hills journeyed to Ellwood the other night to play on the course there. Seventeen ladies made the trip. The 17 ladies lost 18 balls. Is that a one over par, Pa. New wonders?

Howard Reno, of Walmo, while enroute home from his employment about midnight Tuesday, in his car, saw a large grey fox, crossing the road near the Walmo school. The animal was moving off at a good pace into the school-yard, with a chicken in its mouth.

William McClelland of the Hills-ville, Mt. Jackson road, combined oats yesterday, it was reported to Pa. News. His yield was well over 50 bushels to the acre. This is some what higher than most farmers estimated oats would run this year. Previous estimate was from 40 to 45 bushels to the acre.

Patience has been rewarded. East street foot travelers will now be able to stop once again and get a cool drink of water along side of the City Building. Workmen were busily engaged Wednesday afternoon in installing a new fountain on the side of the old one that was torn down a year ago.

Many of the service flags that still remain in the windows of city homes are carrying the familiar discharge emblems of the returned soldiers. Some flags carry two discharge emblems and one star denoting that one young man of the house is still in service and two have been released.

In dismantling the former K of C Home on North Jefferson street workmen discovered an old framed clipping from The News of March 26, 1904, with the clipping bearing the (Continued on Page Two)

BRITAIN BEGINS BREAD RATIONING

Housewives wait their turn to get bread and cake at a London bake shop as rationing started in England. A buyers' strike, prompted by the new bread rationing system, has left a large number of bakeries and stores throughout London with stale supplies.

Congressman May Faces Quiz Friday

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(INS)—Members of the Mead committee disclosed today they want to ask Rep. Andrew J. May (D) Ky., tomorrow whether he "influenced" army brass hats to attend a war contractor's New York party where even hotel lodging was provided.

Senators said their question would cover the full range of the House military chairman's alleged "influence" in behalf of the Garsson munitions combine.

To Take Stand
May has agreed to take the witness stand at 9 a. m. (EST) Friday, claiming a two-week tug-of-war over whether he should be allowed to cross-examine witnesses through his own counsel. The committee insisted he should have no special legal privileges not accorded other witnesses.

Committee members evidenced a particular interest in "Mission Pierre"—the name given the swank Garsson wedding party at New York's Pierre hotel by Chairman Mead (D) N. Y. Half a dozen ranking officers—and Rep. May—were guests of Murray Garsson at the January 2, 1944, affair.

Sen. Mitchell (D) Wash., said he wanted to find out if May "was the influence" which prompted Maj. Gen. Alden H. Walt, now chemical warfare service chief, and other officers to lend their presence to the party. Mitchell asserted:

Rescuer Is Given Reward Of $100,000 For Saving Hughes

Sgt. William Lloyd Durkin, Oil City, Receives Fortune For Timely Rescue Act

PITTSBURGH, July 25.—(INS)—Broadway Columnist Jack Lait reported today that Sgt. William Lloyd Durkin of Oil City, Pa., has been awarded $100,000 for his sensational rescue of multi-millionaire Howard Hughes from a burning plane crash in California.

Lait wrote that Hughes, who recently was reported out of danger by his doctors, probably would have been beyond human aid if he had stayed in the blazing plane for another 30 seconds.

During the war, according to Lait, Durkin was commended for putting out a fire in a flaming dive bomber which was carrying a 1000-pound bomb.

May Interceded For Clemency For Son Of Garsson

War Department Admits Congressman Twice Interceded In Case

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(INS)—The War Department admitted today that Rep. Andrew J. May (D) Ky., twice interceded with Gen. Dwight Eisenhower seeking clemency for the son of Murray W. Garsson of the Garsson munitions empire, who was ordered court-martialed for "willful disobedience".

Garsson's son, Capt. Joseph H. Garsson, was found guilty of refusing to place his chemical mortar company at a specified location, was sentenced to dismissal from the service, but later the sentence was suspended and he was placed on the inactive list.

The War Department noted that young Garsson was specially trained on 42 motor shell fire—the type of shell disclosed to have killed uncounted American GIs through premature explosion, and a type which the officer's uncle, Dr. Henry M. Garsson "helped" to design.

To Ask May About It
May is expected to be asked about his intercession in young Garsson's behalf when he takes the witness stand before the Senate war profits committee tomorrow to explain his connection with the munitions combine.

Capt. Garsson's alleged failure to obey orders took place near Gries, France, on January 20, 1945. At that time he commanded a company firing chemical mortar shells.

Bomb Explosion Is Not Recorded At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—(INS)—Explosion of the atomic bomb today 7,000 miles away in Bikini lagoon failed to register on the seismometer of the Fels Planetarium of the Franklin Institute.

But Dr. I. M. Levitt, assistant director of the planetarium, wasn't surprised that the terrific blast didn't register.

Census Staff To Survey Housing Problem Of City

Trained Census Enumerators To Look Over Situation Starting Friday

A. L. Triggs and a staff of trained men representing the Bureau of Census will be in New Castle Friday, July 26, to start a survey designed to ascertain housing needs and plans of veterans in the city at the request of the National Housing Agency.

The staff will work from headquarters in the Post Office building and all information obtained in the survey will be used to assist the city in planning its share in the gigantic national housing program now getting under way.

To Aid Veterans
The survey is designated primarily to find out the present housing needs of veterans living in the community, what they would like to do about their housing and what plans they have made. In addition, it is planned to find out the number of vacancies in the city, and what these vacancies are like.

Information will also be obtained on the characteristics of the occupied units, such as the number of units in which families are living doubled up, what rents are being paid and how many families plan to live in this area.

Representative Survey
To speed up the survey, only a sample of dwelling units will be visited. Mr. Triggs declared. The sample has been carefully selected to give a representative cross-section of the city's problems, and at the same time large enough to permit reasonable estimates of what a survey of the entire community would reveal.

The census enumerators will make personal calls at the dwellings during the survey. Field work will be completed within the next two weeks. Compilation of the data collected here will be made in Washington, D. C.

Death Decree For Two Japs

LONDON, July 25.—(INS)—Reuters reported from Shanghai today that a U. S. military tribunal has passed death sentences on two Japanese officers charged with executing 14 downed American airmen in Formosa last year.

Lieut. Gen. Iyama was sentenced to life imprisonment and four other Japanese involved in the executions were given sentences ranging from 20 to 40 years.

George Bernard Shaw Will Seek To Ignore Ninetieth Birthday

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright, 1946)
(Re International News Service)

AYOT ST. LAWRENCE, Eng., July 25.—George Bernard Shaw, author, dramatist and wit, will celebrate his 90th birthday tomorrow by attempting to ignore it.

The effort will be unsuccessful, and Shaw knows it. Used as he is to publicity, he views the whole affair with trepidation with which is mixed deep pride over the public attention being paid him.

To Keep Up Fiction
Nevertheless, because five years ago, on his 85th birthday, he booted out all comers who came to congratulate him and told reporters he was finished with birthdays, he intends keeping up the polite Shavian fiction that he doesn't acknowledge anniversaries.

In the quiet study of his home at Ayot St. Lawrence, surrounded by mementos of 50 years of authorship, and in his plain outdoor wooden, revolving workroom where he does most of his writing these days, he will tomorrow try to keep away from the telephone. He will make a pretense of refusing to receive callers. And he will religiously follow through with the make-believe that July 26 is "just another day in the life of a very old man."

Will Receive Honor
Yet he knows perfectly well that all over the world men and women will honor the man who more than any other has stimulated and molded contemporary thought. He

Box Score Of Second Bikini Bomb Blast

ABOARD USS MT. MCKINLEY, July 25.—(INS)—Here is a box score of the damage caused by the underwater atomic blast today:

SUNK
The Venerable Carrier Saratoga, whose 33,000 tons of fighting bulk settled to the bottom of Bikini lagoon several hours after the bomb burst. The "Sara" was commissioned in 1912.

The Battleship Arkansas, veteran of two world wars, went to the bottom within five minutes after the blast, which ripped and tore the 34-year-old battlewagon savagely below the water line. The 21,600-ton Arkansas was the last ship in the U. S. Navy mounting 12-inch guns.

Five Submarines, which had been suspended at various depths, apparently were driven to the bottom. An official air observer reported the sunken submarines were believed to be the Skipjack, Apogon, Sea Raven, Dentada, and the Pilot Fish. Floating buoys also indicated the five subs had gone to the bottom.

The Concrete Yard Oiler No. 160.

A Landing Craft, Tank (LST).

DAMAGED
The Battleship New York, down two feet at the stern.

The Destroyer Hughes, down four feet at the stern.

The Transport Fallon, listing to starboard.

The Japanese Battleship Nagato, previously battered by U. S. Navy planes and the July 1 atomic burst in the air over the lagoon.

Six beached landing craft targets on Bikini's coral shores, comprising one LST, one LCI and four LCIs, were set afloat when the bomb-created wave struck the beach. One LCM was submerged at the stern, although its bow was still on the beach.

Extent of damage to other target ships was not yet ascertained due to high radio-activity in the lagoon's waters where the target array of 87 ships were set up like sitting ducks.

There was no loss of human life or any injuries reported.

Fate of the "guinea pig" animals on some of the target ships has not yet been determined.

Suggests Animals Be Sent On Rockets

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(INS)—Brig. Gen. Malcolm C. Grow, air surgeon general, recommended today that animals be sent on rocket flights to pave the way for such trips by humans.

Grow revealed in an interview that experiments aimed at making possible rocket flights by man already have been conducted at Wright field, Dayton, O., and Randolph field, Texas.

The general predicted that passenger rockets will be developed within five or ten years.

The proposed experiments with animals in rockets would be subsequent to August 22 when a V-2 rocket will be fired at White Sands, N. M., equipped with an accelerometer which measures the force of gravity against a person or thing.

Grow's recommendation for following up this test with actual rocket flights by cats, mice or other animals will be made to Maj. Gen. Everett S. Hughes, chief of ordnance, who, in turn, would submit the proposal to the army ordnance rocket development section.

MOSCOW SILENT ON NEW BOMB TEST

LONDON, July 25.—(INS)—A Reuters dispatch from Moscow said today that neither the press nor the radio has carried a word about the explosion of the world's fifth atomic bomb yesterday in Bikini lagoon.

The witnesses at today's inquest were Police Chief John Tompkins, of Upper Merion, and Dr. John C. Simpson, the coroner's physician.

Tompkins was asked if there was any signed statement in connection with the death of the Norristown pair and he replied:

"No, not as yet."

After hearing testimony from two witnesses, the jury composed of three men and three women decided:

Mrs. Hanley and John Hoffman died as the result of wounds inflicted by a person or persons unknown to this jury.

The witnesses at today's inquest were Police Chief John Tompkins, of Upper Merion, and Dr. John C. Simpson, the coroner's physician.

Tompkins was asked if there was any signed statement in connection with the death of the Norristown pair and he replied:

"No, not as yet."

And he is scared stiff. "It will be a miracle if I survive it all," he said.

He admitted all this to me today when he answered, among other things, my questions about his birthday. And, for all his quipping, the irony which everyone expects from Shaw, and the Shavian gibes, it was very evident that Shaw at 90 is a much mellowed man than he was at 80.

He defended his tacit approval of tonight's New York ceremony by explaining that he could not very well offend "well meaning" people who wish to honor him. But, he insisted with a touch of the old Shavian anti-birthday vigor, he will not send any message to be read at the dinner.

Never Send Messages
"I never send messages," Shaw said. "Why should I bore people who have never injured me and mean well by me? My books are still on sale, my plays still hold the stage. What more can anyone expect me to say? There's no need for me to advertise myself. Neither is this dinner a put-up job between my publishers and myself."

His mind as active as ever, Shaw (Continued on Page Two)

Secretary Snyder Has Close Call

NEW YORK, July 25.—(INS)—Coast guard officers said today that Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder was aboard a Lockheed Lodestar that almost crashed into the Empire State building while flying over mist-shrouded New York.

The plane landed safely after its coast guard pilot suddenly saw the building loom in the fog and zoomed vertically over it.

An army bomber crashed into the Empire State July 28 last year, killing 14 persons.

Bomb Exploded Near Saratoga

Valiant Queen Of Aircraft Carriers Is Sunk By Atomic Bomb

LIGHTER SHIPS MORE FORTUNATE
By CLARK LEE
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

ABOARD USS APPALACHIAN, Off Bikini, July 25.—The valiant queen of aircraft carriers, the Saratoga, slowly settled to her watery grave in atom-blasted Bikini lagoon today, a victim of the atomic age.

To thousands of fighting sailors she was affectionately known as the "Sara". Not a few eyes of those who knew her intimately during the days of war were without moisture today.

Historically, she was the fifth U. S. naval vessel to share the name made famous in American Revolutionary days history. She was a sister ship of the equally-famed Lexington, which was lost in the battle of the Coral Sea. Both were commissioned in 1927, after being converted to carriers before being completed as heavy cruisers.

The bomb apparently exploded about midway between the Arizona and Saratoga, which were estimated to be 1,000 yards apart and broadside to each other and to the blast. Strangely, light-bulb surface ships like the transport Fallon and the destroyer Hughes, which likewise were nearby, were not as badly damaged (although both are still listing) nor was the submarine Skate, which likewise was near the center of the target array.

Perhaps this was because the atom bomb prefers to take on giants, or it may have been that the smaller ships had their bows or sterns pointing toward the center of the blast, thus escaping its full impact.

The Saratoga, at 33,000 tons with a length of 909 feet, was the largest ship of the fleet and possibly outside of the German heavy cruiser Prince Eugen, the best compartmented.

It had the strongest bottom—a triple one—and in addition to four compartments along the side, the Saratoga had a huge anti-torpedo blister which was on the side nearest to the blast.

This blister was added after a Japanese chief identified the servant as Clement Klein.

Klein said Bergdoll's only response to his request for the wages was a punch in the nose.

Glisson said Bergdoll then allegedly got a shotgun and pointed it at Klein, until Mrs. Bergdoll intervened.

Bergdoll, who spent 20 years in Germany before returning to this country to serve a term for draft dodging, was arrested at his estate near Downingtown.

Mrs. Bergdoll, according to Glisson, has been living at a nearby farm, and was visiting her husband at the time of the incident.

Senate Passes O.P.A. Extension Measure 53 To 26

President Truman Expected To Take Action On Bill During Day

INDICATIONS IT WILL BE APPROVED

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, July 25.—(INS)—The White House said today that President Truman will announce his decision on the compromise bill restoring price and rent control at 5 P. M. (EST) new conference.

Mr. Truman will send a message to congress in connection with his action on the controversial measure.

WASHINGTON, Jul. 25. — (INS) — Congressional leaders expected President Truman to sign into law today the compromise bill re-creating OPA and restoring full rent controls and limited price regulations until June 30, 1947.

White House Secretary Ross bolstered anticipations that the president would move swiftly now that the new legislation has been enacted by congress by stating that Mr. Truman would probably act today.

Coincident with his action on the measure, the president will send a message to congress outlining his views on the compromise legislation.

It was reported on Capitol Hill that the president will express satisfaction that the moving formula of Sen. Taft (R) Ohio has been replaced by that of Sen. Barkley (D) Ky. The president may point out, informed sources stated, that in contrast with the Taft pricing formula, which he considered highly inflationary, the Barkley formula would not result in many price rises to the consumer.

It was learned that Mr. Truman (Continued on Page Six)

Indictment Of Heirens Is Sought

Illinois State's Attorney To Present Evidence To Grand Jury Session

CHICAGO, July 25.—(INS)—Indictments naming William Heirens, 37, as the slayer of Suzanne Degnan, 6, and Frances Brown, a former Wave, were sought today by State's Attorney William J. Tuohy in presenting evidence and witnesses to the Cook County Grand jury.

Tuohy summoned a long list of witnesses, including finger print and handwriting experts, to appear before the jury and give testimony he expects will link Heirens with the two murders.

One of the witnesses summoned is Herbert J. Walter, handwriting expert, who has been comparing samples of Heirens' handwriting with that on a $20,000 ransom note found in Suzanne's bedroom and that of a lipstick message written by Miss Brown's slayer.

Also called for the Grand jury session was Sgt. John Laffey, police (Continued on Page Two)

The bride wore white (well, they usually do) as she walked the long path of the aisle, a vision I found in her pristine white garb, but I thought I noticed a smile. She may have been thinking of long weeks and months when the boy friend was over the sea, or she may have been looking at guests like myself or something I couldn't see. But as brides always are, she was lovely in white, and the groom looked most very alive, and the parson man fixed things the way they should be, and the weather is seventy-five.

Butler Asks For Back Wages, Gets Punch In Nose, Bergdoll Gets Gun Out

DOWNINGTOWN, Pa., July 25.—(INS)—Grover C. Bergdoll, World War I's most notorious draft dodger, was arrested today on charges of striking his butler and threatening him with a gun.

State police said the charges of assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery and pointing of firearms stemmed from an alleged argument over the butler's claim for $137 in back wages.

Chester Glisson, Downingtown police chief, identified the servant as Clement Klein.

Klein said Bergdoll's only response to his request for the wages was a punch in the nose.

Glisson said Bergdoll then allegedly got a shotgun and pointed it at Klein, until Mrs. Bergdoll intervened.

Bergdoll, who spent 20 years in Germany before returning to this country to serve a term for draft dodging, was arrested at his estate near Downingtown.

Ready To Build Rail Siding To New Gas Plant

Rails, ties, fish-plates and other component parts for the siding at the propane plant which the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. is erecting in Franklin township have been assembled and will be installed in a matter of days.

This is the latest word on the construction picture for the new peak load plant, according to F. W. Burdette, local manager of the natural gas company in New Castle.

The B. & O. railroad is said to be nearly ready to cut into its main line track to install the necessary switch. When completed, the new siding will be 875 feet in length. It will allow four tank cars of propane to be unloaded at the same time.

The supplementary fuel will be unloaded into a battery of 16 storage tanks. Each tank, when loaded with 30,000 gallons of propane, will weigh about 100 tons or a 1,600-ton load for the concrete foundations to support.

To Aid Peak Load

According to Mr. Burdette, the natural gas company expects to have the peak load facility in operation before extreme winter weather sets in.

The local manager explained that the natural gas company expects to draw on the peak load propane plant only 10 to 12 days during the winter season. "The mixing of the propane vapor with the natural gas will not necessarily be on consecutive days, nor for long periods of time," he advised.

"Since VJ day," Mr. Burdette explained, "we have been deluged with requests for natural gas for home heating. The amount of natural gas now used for heating purposes is climbing steadily."

"This peak load plant will materially assist in our attempt to provide a satisfactory, uninterrupted and continuous service, particularly in the early morning hours," commented Mr. Burdette. "A tremendous demand exists for natural gas when customers turn on gas ranges for breakfast coffee, when gas-fired space heaters are lighted, and when house heating thermostats are regulated for daytime temperatures."

"Through entirely automatic controls, and under the supervision of the load dispatcher, this load plant has been designed to swing into operation to enable the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. to increase the availability of the gas supply during those hours when unusual demands are made."

ANNOUNCES BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hudson, 720 Pershing avenue, Ellwood City, announce the birth of a daughter on July 20 at the Mary Evans hospital. She has been named Sandra Lee.

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW WILL SEEK TO IGNORE 90TH BIRTHDAY

went on to talk about the impossibility of succeeding in ignoring his 90th birthday in the same manner as he did his anniversaries from 80 until now.

"Ignore it," he exclaimed. "I only wish I could. Have you any notion of what it is to have your birthday celebrated? Interviewing journalists, press photographers, demands for articles, endless private letters, lying assurances that you look younger than ever, invitations to public dinners, offers of chairmanships and vice presidencies, begging letters morning, noon and night for months."

"It is all very good fun for the celebrators, no doubt, but what is it for the victim of it all? Can you wonder I try to ignore these anniversaries?"

"It will be a miracle if I survive it all," he repeated. "No more birthdays for me, thank you."

At 90 Shaw's genius is undimmed. His penetrating wit is as potent as ever. For publication, he says he thinks the general retiring age should be 300 and that man is only getting into his stride at 90.

'Adequate' Crops For Canning Season Are Foreseen Here

Good Supply Of Vegetables Expected; Fruit Will Be Mostly Shipped In

Perhaps there will be no bushels of fruit for housewives to worry about as the sugar supply in the cupboard gets lower and lower, but neither will there be any marked shortage of vegetables and fruits for canning if the present indications are correct, according to both the Lawrence county agriculture extension representative, Louis C. Dayton, and local wholesale produce men.

The local fruit crop is rather spotty, Mr. Dayton points out, but tomatoes, corn, beans, and other vegetables, both on farms and in smaller gardens, are doing well at present. Unless bad weather should spoil them, tomatoes should be far more plentiful this year than last, he continues.

Fruit, however, will be mostly shipped in, say the produce men. Peaches and apples will probably be plentiful enough, but so far they do not promise to be a drug on the market. Berries made an appearance and that's about all.

"Things might change," Mr. Dayton and the produce men say. The situation might become either better or worse. But judging by the weather and the looks of the crops now, the canning done by most housewives will be "adequate"—no more, no less.

Heated Debate On Palestine Policy Coming

LONDON, July 25.—(INS)—Reaction to publication of the official White paper on Extremist activities and British policy in Palestine indicated today that heated debate will ensue when the subject is discussed in the House of Commons.

Members of the Tory opposition are prepared to demand why the government did not take steps to halt "terrorism" moves the White paper said were known in advance.

Opposition spokesmen pointed out that some messages and telegrams between London and Palestine were intercepted and decoded long before "outrages they spoke of" were committed.

Government spokesmen, meanwhile, said Prime Minister Attlee will explain before Commons that at the time messages were intercepted, several international conferences on Palestine's future were in progress.

The prime minister is expected to argue it was considered undesirable to take any action that might have precipitated a crisis, although authorities were collecting information to enable swift action when the proper time arose.

MAY INTERCEDE FOR CLEMENCY FOR SON OF GARSSON

following statement on the case: "Two letters from congressmen May in reference to the case of Capt. Garsson were received at headquarters, European Theater of Operations."

"These letters were handled by the staff judge advocate in the normal routine manner followed with all such letters, and received a routine acknowledgement."

"They had no influence whatever in the disposition of the case."

Charges Made

Charges were preferred by Garsson's regimental commander on January 22.

The War Department reported that on March 11 the commanding general, VII corps, directed that Garsson be tried, and trial by general court martial took place April 2 and April 7. The official summary read:

"The evidence at the trial discloses that on January 20 in the vicinity of Gries, France, Capt. Garsson reported with his chemical company to the commanding officer of the 143d Infantry."

"The regimental commander indicated the area to be occupied by Capt. Garsson and his company for the purpose of delivering supporting fire."

The captain protested that the disposition indicated was tactically unsound. On the following day the regimental commander directed Capt. Garsson to place his company in the position previously indicated.

"The captain refused to comply and the order was repeated and again refused. The accused was then relieved of command of the company."

"Officers who were witnesses for the defense at the trial testified that the position designated was in fact tactically unsound and that the officer who succeeded Capt. Garsson was not required to occupy it."

"The court found Garsson guilty and imposed a sentence of dismissal, but on April 7, all members of the court sitting in the case recommended clemency."

May Take Two Sessions

Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., another member, said he thought May's testimony would take two sessions—Friday and Saturday mornings—with the congressman being excused for afternoon House sessions.

After the May appearance, the committee announced it will open public hearings Tuesday on charges that Rep. John M. Coffee (D) Wash., received $2,500 from a constituent contractor in 1941, in return for what the contractor has termed "services rendered." Elvind Anderson, the contractor, and Paul A. Olson, Coffee's 1941 secretary to whom the $2,500 check was sent, will testify with Coffee.

The Washington Democrat requested the hearing. He has dismissed the charges as "political" in nature, explaining that the $2,500 was campaign contribution.

that before Hoffman died on the operating table he told Tompkins that:

"Ken did it."

Hanley, wounded and delirious, was apprehended in his mother's home last Tuesday after he had spent a week in nearby Six Boys woods. The 25-year-old ex-serviceman was charged in a warrant with the slaying of his estranged wife and her escort.

Hanley at present is still under 24-hour guard at the Montgomery County hospital in Norris town.

A .38 calibre revolver with which he was accused of having used to fatally wound his wife, Helen Louise, 22, and Hoffman, 26, was found in his mother's home along with some wet clothing Hanley discarded on the morning of his capture.

Senator Gives Impression Of A-Bomb Blast

By U. S. SENATOR CARL HATCH, NEW MEXICO (Member of the Presidential Evaluation Committee)

(Written Especially for I. N. S.)

ABOARD USS HAVEN, Off Bikini, July 25.—My first reaction to the Baker test was even stronger than the impressions I received on "Able" day.

It was truly a magnificent, spectacular rising of a huge column of water and cloud out of the sea, shaped like a gigantic sheaf of wheat and hiding almost the entire target array.

It demonstrated once again the terrific destructive power of the atomic bomb; it sank two capital ships, the Arkansas and the galant Saratoga, as well as sinking at least two smaller craft and caused other possible damage or sinkings not yet ascertainable. The carrier Saratoga previously had survived battle attack and torpedo blows.

I am again most strongly impressed that with such terrific, awesome force available, nations dare not make war.

title "Merchants' Piano Contest". Evidently the merchants were giving votes on a free piano for every sale made in the store. The list showed the K of C ahead with 391-947 votes, while the Welsh Congregational church ran a close second, with 225,911 votes.

Pa. News is wondering what group will be the first to actually enjoy a corn roast this year. Several "reasts" are in the offing, but none have actually come off as yet.

While some sections of the county must have had hard rains last night, New Castle proper seemed to have missed most of the rain, at least the north portion did. Only five-tenths of an inch was recorded at the Water plant.

Momentary excitement reigned on an East Side bus, Wednesday afternoon, Pa. News observed. A large wasp entered the bus and he flew about seeking out a victim upon which to enter his lungs. Passengers did quite a bit of scurrying about to prevent becoming a casualty. The unwelcome passenger finally settled on the forehead of a man depicted on one of the advertising posters of the bus.

Interurban bus travel seemingly has not decreased in spite of the numerous new cars that are making their appearance on the highways of the state. One of out of town bus passing through the city, marked "35 passengers" was literally packed, with an estimated 70 people riding the bus to some Western destination.

Power company employees were during an effective bit of safety work Wednesday afternoon. A number of streets on the East Side were becoming hazards due to the trees on either side of the street blocking the vision of motorists due to their large branches extending into the roadway. The workers were pruning the trees back thus preventing potential accident.

Several youngsters had an enjoyable time on Wednesday evening on the rear lawn of the Book residence, corner East Washington and Oak streets, with a squirrel which was quite tame. One of the crowd would rub a couple of walnuts together, thereby enticing the little fellow, that would even up on their lars for the nut, take it away and hide it. Near by was another squirrel that had the misfortune to lose its tail, making it look very much like a rat. A dog nearby, strained at its chain to get at it.

finger print expert, who has identified finger and palm prints on the ransom note and a finger print in Miss Brown's apartment as those of Heirens.

If all of the evidence in both cases is presented today, it is believed the jury will return formal indictments tomorrow and the court would set Heirens' arraignment for next Monday.

Tuchy's decision to bring the two cases before the Grand jury at once was announced shortly before he made public yesterday a 118-page statement taken from Heirens June 30.

In the statement Heirens consistently denied the kidnap-murder and dismemberment of the Degnan child last Jan. 7.

depth, was apparently undisturbed by the blast but later investigation would prove whether or not its hull had been damaged. Two other submarines, the Skate and the Parche, were surfaced and also apparently undamaged.

The submarines driven to the bottom were the Plotfish, Apogon, Skipjack, Sea Raven and Dentada. Radiological patrol boats ventured into the center of the battered target fleet eight hours after the explosion. Commander Draper Kauffman, patrol chief, said the center area was so "hot" that the same crews would not be allowed to make the trip again for 24 hours.

Preliminary Toll Report

Even the preliminary toll reported for the underwater test compared favorably with results of the July 1 overhead explosion. The Baker test accounted for five ships sunk, nine heavily damaged and several others slightly damaged.

Today's explosion also sank two capital ships—the Arkansas and Saratoga—a feat never before equaled by one bomb.

Observers aboard the Mt. McKinley, Panamint and Appalachia from a vantage point outside the lagoon watched the failed old "Sara" hanging on grimly in her death struggle before finally disappearing in the waters of the lagoon.

The "Saratoga," a 909-foot long carrier converted from a cruiser, was listing to starboard at a five degree angle before she was washed under. The big flattop which once carried a complement of 2,500 men, had a rated speed of 33.9 knots in her prime.

Move To Outer Rim

Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandy's flagship, the Mt. McKinley, followed by this press ship, the Appalachia, moved up to the outer rim of Bikini atoll for an eyewitness view of damage a few hours after the explosion. However, the ships were prevented from entering the lagoon itself because of the serious danger of radioactivity.

In Test Able, it was only a matter of a few hours before observer ships were allowed into the lagoon. Radiological crews boarded three outlying transports at the southwestern edge of the target fleet less than six hours after "Test Baker" explosion which came on schedule, precisely at 8:35 a. m. (3:35 p. m. Wednesday, EDT), death-ray patrol boats, equipped with Geiger counters, reported that three other ships were clear of radioactivity.

Damage Toll Mounts

The damage toll was mounting rapidly as observers watched the battered fleet in the lagoon which was churned by a force equal to 20,000 tons of TNT.

Experts pointed out that hull damage would be particularly severe from the sub-surface blast.

The towering water-spout which roared skyward from the target center reached a height of more than 5,000 feet and an atomic cloud mushroomed 4,000 feet higher.

Admiral Blandy said the water column was 2,100 feet wide at its base and "considerably wider at the top."

When the huge water column cascaded downward, 15 to 20 waves were seen to skim toward the shores of Bikini but failed to sweep over the atoll. A small island nearby was inundated by the waves. Which reached a height of five to ten feet.

The lagoon was obscured almost completely in a misty cosmic spray for about five minutes after the blast but in about an hour the atomic cloud had largely dissipated.

Clock-Like Precision

The operation was carried out with clock-like precision and the 42,000 men involved as well as 120 non-target ships carried out their appointed tasks without mishaps.

The New York apparently escaped major injury although one early afternoon report from an aerial observer said the battleship had "settled at the stern." There was no further report and observers concluded that there was probably an error made in reconnaissance.

The New York was in a position considered "relatively safe."

Darkness closed over Bikini with the fate of many ships still undetermined. The Hughes, the destroyer closest to the explosion, had settled five feet in the water and the Fallon was still listing to starboard.

Admiral Blandy said he was not convinced that the five submarines which plunged to the bottom had suffered structural damage. A photographic plane was scheduled to move over the target array shortly after midnight, drop a flash bomb and take a picture designed to show additional damage or sinkings.

Physical effects of the underwater explosion were by far more spectacular than those accompanying the overhead blast. Observers on ships as far as eight miles away felt a definite shock immediately after the blast and also saw a momentary flash of fire which mushroomed into the multi-colored cloud of atomic gases.

Dismantling Begun On K. Of C. Building

Behind The Curtain

Russia's recent diplomatic pyrotechnics, in the opinion of some observers, have been staged by the communist inner circle to divert the minds of the masses from unsatisfactory conditions at home. Much of the Soviet manpower still is in foreign lands. It is needed badly by a nation whose economy was shattered by war and which is being pieced back together all too slowly.

Among other factors of unrest are the hordes of veterans who have been permitted to return. They have had a glimpse of the comforts of life in other countries. Other peoples with whom they had been in contact were not to be feared and distrusted so much as they had been taught to believe. Apparently, then, the Kremlin is faced with the dilemma of returning soldiers to help rebuild the country or keeping them on "occupation duty" because they might become soil for an opposing political bloc.

A developing conflict between the Kremlin and the army may explain the latest shakeup in military commanders, in which war idol Zhukov was relegated to an obscure post. But discipline from the top may not serve to bring 12 million other Russian soldiers back into the strict party line.

Gardening In Midsummer

Any gardener will admit that the last week in July is not exactly the most delightful time to work in the vegetable plot. The heat and humidity bring out the sweat in streams, flies, mosquitoes and chiggers attack any unprotected area of skin, and generally it is much more pleasant to lie in the shade on the lawn sipping a long, cool, refreshing drink.

But the experienced hand knows that to get the most produce out of his garden he must not only work in July but work hard—and fast. For there are many crops that, sown by August 1, will mature before cool weather. But if he waits longer, the opportunity may be lost.

Some gardeners say, with luck, there is time to set out cabbage, broccoli, brussels sprouts and cauliflower plants. Then there are the root crops, notably beets and carrots. Turnips can be planted, and with them lettuce, radishes, spinach and kale.

This is a formidable array but it testifies to the importance of July in the gardener's schedule. If he makes every chance count he will have his rows yielding until frost comes—and even later, for there are several vegetables on the list that do not mind a nip or two.

Maybe there are a lot of things most gardeners would rather do. But at a time when every pound of food helps deprive the nation's food shortage of a little of its threat, there are few spare time activities that give a man a deeper sense of satisfaction. This year especially it is a good feeling to get hot, bitten, and dusty in a garden under the end-of-July sun. Or perhaps it just seems so writing an editorial in a cool office, sitting in the breeze of a powerful fan.

Malnutrition In Schools

The Philadelphia Board of Education, in administering the state's new school health law, has discovered that nearly one in ten pupils in schools of that city is suffering from malnutrition. This is a condition that can be remedied only through education on nutrition. School lunches, whether provided by federal or state funds, do not go to the root of the problem. Such adjuncts to nutrition are not operative when children are not in school, or after they pass school age. The pre-school child is not a beneficiary of them.

The problem must be attacked through the home. Parents must be taught the principles of sound nutrition. They must be taught to buy foods that will provide adequate nourishment rather than buy merely what they or their children prefer. They must train their children to eat foods that will make for sound health.

Of course, thousands and thousands of words are published daily in the United States on the value of different foods, taking into consideration vitamin and mineral needs as well as calories. Persons who wish to become informed on this matter can easily become so. But apparently there are millions of persons in the United States who pay no attention or not enough attention to what is known regarding foods. They continue in their same old ways.

It cannot be contended that lack of funds is the principal cause of these malnutrition cases. There are cases of malnutrition among families of the rich as well as families of the poor. And good foods, vital to health, frequently are less expensive than foods which are far inferior.

At any rate the presence of malnutrition in nearly one out of ten pupils in the schools of a large city in which a high degree of literacy prevails is a disgrace to the country. But the condition exists in other cities, too.

'Win The Peace' For Whom?

It is noteworthy that when the Wisconsin Win the Peace Conference was held in Milwaukee recently, this particular group found itself, on almost every issue, opposed to the course the United States is taking in this postwar world. And it is just as significant that on practically every issue the group was in accord with the Russian policy, the American Communist policy, and the policy that is set forth daily in the Daily Worker, which is the Communist organ in this country.

Here is what some of the resolutions adopted propose: Defeat of the "free press" requirements in UNRRA appropriations; removal of Herbert Hoover as head of the emergency famine relief committee; placing of atomic energy under international control and destruction of the present stock pile of bombs; severance of relations with Franco Spain and recognition of the Spanish government in exile; replacement of General MacArthur's present regime in Japan with "genuine allied control under the Far East Commission of the United Nations"; opposition to military assistance for the Philippines; opposition to President Truman's program to create a system of military cooperation with South American countries; opposition to the proposed conscription and armament programs before Congress; condemnation of "the brutal British imperialist policy and Bevin's (British foreign minister) anti-Semitic remarks as a disgrace to the United Nations"; and lastly, support of "Yugoslavia's request for the return of Trieste to Marshal Tito."

All Americans want to win the peace, not just these few. All want an everlasting peace. But most Americans are not willing to surrender to Russia to get it. Even if they were inclined to give in, they could hardly believe that a surrender peace would be permanent.—Milwaukee Journal

Many of the candidates for office in the elections this fall seem to be trying for victory through hot air power.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Senator Morse Is Controversial Figure

WASHINGTON, July 25.—In the brief time he has been in the senate, Oregon's Republican Sen. Wayne Morse has made himself probably the most controversial figure in that contentious club. He has become a king of Peck's Bad Boy, lighting firecrackers with great glee under those of his colleagues whom he finds overly snail or overly cautious.

Morse arouses great ire among various and sundry people in Washington. The surviving New Dealers speak of him with utter contempt, they accuse him of making political deals when he was a member of the War Labor Board.

Tory Republicans in the senate fairly froth at the mouth when they speak of the bad boy from the west. Senators such as Albert W. Hawkes of New Jersey and E. H. Moore of Oklahoma regard him with all the cordiality that would greet a gila monster found in the midst of a cozy picnic ground. Even for conservatives like Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio he is a hair-shirt.

Now, in the closing days of the session, when everything is touch and go, Morse is missing no opportunities to go to bat for his favorite causes—and the list of causes is a long one.

The other day, in the midst of a parliamentary scuffle, he succeeded in getting the anti-poll tax bill passed as an amendment to the Federal oil bill, which all proper-thinking states-rights—to say nothing of those who speak for the big oil companies—wanted passed. To their considerable embarrassment, Republicans from oil-producing states had to vote against the bill in order to bring the oil bill to final passage. This was exactly the kind of parliamentary firecracker Morse delights in setting off.

Somewhat singed in the explosion was Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, who has been a spokesman of the anti-poll tax forces in the south. He argued that if the bill could be set aside as an amendment to the oil measure, the leadership of the senate would see that it got consideration later. Morse promptly blasted this as a phony, pointing out that, in the last-minute stampede, it would be impossible to compel senators to stay on the floor to consider it.

Stirred to resentment it was on another issue, however, that the senator from Oregon stirred behind-the-scenes resentment. The issue was senate resolution 196, which would have the United States declare that it will accept compulsory jurisdiction of the world court over any dispute arising between the United States and any other nation of the world accepting the same obligation.

Morse learned that in secret session, the senate foreign relations committee had decided to postpone consideration of the resolution, of which he is the author. This was done with the encouragement of Senators Tom Connally and Arthur H. Vandenberg, who were reported as believing that it was too early for such a resolution. Arriving also was Sen. Warren P. Austin of Vermont, named by President Truman to head the U. S. delegation to the United Nations.

The senator had before them a confidential memorandum from John Foster Dulles, the New York lawyer who has become the chief foreign-policy adviser within the Republican party. In his memorandum, Dulles pointed to certain technical difficulties in the way of such a sweeping resolution. While he used speedy ratification of the resolution, he suggested certain changes in the language which, he believed, would facilitate its acceptance.

Morse at this point took the senate floor. He praised Sen. Vandenberg in high terms for his speech regarding the U. S. position in putting the bill under the saddle.

"Here is an opportunity to practice as well as to speak about establishing a world order of permanent peace based upon international justice through law."

The senator from Oregon also pointed out that the compulsory jurisdiction clause was omitted from the United Nations charter partly because the U. S. delegation at San Francisco did not feel that the charter would be ratified with such a clause in it. Thus, Morse pointed out, the United States and Russia are the only two powers not accepting compulsory jurisdiction of the world court.

To Sen. E. B. Tamm of Utah, Morse has a valiant ally. Together they may succeed in forcing consideration of the resolution before adjournment. And Morse has other firecrackers he is likely to set off before congress goes warily home.

I would like to meet that Judge Julius Kovachy of Cleveland who recently recommended forgiveness for infidelity and found some justification for it in the hysteria of the war.

I am glad that Judge Joseph Sabath, of Chicago, who has heard more than 100,000 divorce cases and shown thousands of husbands and wives the way to marital happiness, condemned his Ohio colleague in no uncertain terms.

What good is marriage if separation is justified as justification for infidelity?

That sort of rationalizing makes plain prostitution out of what we have always considered a sacred institution and the very foundation of American life.

Anybody can be faithful if he or she is watched every moment of the day and night and if there is no opportunity for straying.

Faithfulness is not a matter of proximity but of morality.

Tonight . . . unless you are reading this after seven thirty . . . you will still have time to attend the big boxing show up at Ye Old Football Field . . . and according to our sports reporter Ed Fritz Senior this will be one of the high lights of the summer season as far as sports is concerned. Surely by this time you all know that this particular show is a non-profit enterprise. Every cent above the cost of producing the show will be turned over to the City Recreation Board . . . and the good thing is that the money can't really be measured in dollars and cents. So if you already haven't offered your support . . . do it now and see a really worthwhile boxing show.

Some little time ago city council passed an ordinance which stated that there would be NO TURNS at the corner of Mill and Washington streets. Signs were made to read this . . . even one being established in the center of the street and about eye level . . . what happens? . . . just you stand at the corner most any time during the day and you will find motorists after motorists making turns. It is even necessary for a policeman to stand with whistle in mouth ready to stop and call attention to the NO TURNS signs. Could it be that some motorists can't read . . . or don't they give a good thought?

Jack Huston . . . that's the chap who hires all the good looking females over at the Strauss-Hirsch store . . . stopped me on the street the other day while on his way to attend the greatest little club in town . . . namely the Rotary . . . and said when you become Mayor what are you going to do first? Well now, that sort of floored me for a moment but not wanting to let Jack down with just a blank stare (he's a great guy) and I didn't want to give him the usual expression (such a special question) so I snapped the shutter and what do you suppose came forth first . . . It was something like this . . . First of all it would be a mighty good idea to have the city purchase for each member of the police force a uniform . . . and then have each officer buy one himself. That would make a change of clothing and each man would be dressed alike. Maybe before the happy day it would be wise to get the force settled as to their standing . . . tell a man if he is on temporary duty when he might expect to be a steady member of the force, as long as he did his duty.

And on and on the ideas spilled forth . . . and Jack went on to attend his Rotary Club . . . and he sang that old favorite: I would rather belong to the Rotary Club than any club I know, it puts the punch in every lunch, it's always on the go, Oh, I'd rather belong to the Rotary Club than any club I know.

The World and the Mud Puddles

(No. 13)

THE SENATE

Continuing with the text of the Constitution, Section 3 of Article I reads:

The Senate of the United States shall be composed of Two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof for six years; and each Senator shall have one Vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in Consequence of the first Election, they shall be divided equally as may be into three Classes. The seats of the Senators of the First Class shall be vacated at the Expiration of the second year, of the second Class at the Expiration of the fourth Year, and of the Third Class at the Expiration of the sixth Year, so that one-third may be chosen every second Year; and if Vacancies happen by Resignation, or otherwise, during the recess of the Legislature of any State, the Executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next Meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such Vacancies.

No Person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the Age of Thirty Years, and been nine Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no Vote, unless they be equally divided.

The Senate shall choose their other Officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the Absence of the Vice President, or when he shall exercise the Office of President of the United States.

The Senate shall have the sole Power to try all Impeachments. When sitting for that Purpose, they shall be on Oath of Affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside: and no Person shall be convicted without the Concurrence of two thirds of the Members present.

Judgment in the Cases of Impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from Office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any Office of honor, Trust or Profit under the United States; but the Party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to Indictment, Trial, Judgment and Punishment, according to Law.

The first paragraph of Section 3 provided for the election of Senators by the legislatures of the several States. The Seventeenth Amendment to the Constitution changed the method of electing Senators. Election was to be by the people, not the Legislature. It was proposed in the 62nd Congress, on May 16, 1912 and was declared to have been ratified by a proclamation of the Secretary of State on May 31st, 1913. The Amendment was adopted by thirty-seven of the forty-eight States, was rejected by the State of Utah. Just why the legislatures of the States voted to surrender their power of election it is hard to understand. The amendment was proposed because of a strong feeling that had been aroused by Senator Penrose of the State of Pennsylvania. He was a great power in the Republican Party and in the affairs of Congress. So great was his power in this State that in the first election for United States Senator, following the adoption of the Seventeenth Amendment, Bois Penrose obtained the largest majority of any candidate who ever stood for election to a Federal office in the State of Pennsylvania.

The quality of the members of the Senate has deteriorated steadily since that Amendment went into effect. It just added ninety-six candidates to the list of those elected by popular vote. About the same time that it was passed, the Primary Law was thrust upon the country. So that a candidate for United States Senator had to stand through the fire of his popular Primary in his State and a popular election.

The salary of a Senator is Ten Thousand Dollars a year, or Sixty Thousand Dollars for the entire term. At the time that Vane of Philadelphia was seeking the office, the contest within the Party of the Primary cost three candidates in Pennsylvania more than Five Million Dollars. Vane was successful but Gifford Pughot, one of the candidates in the Primary, who had spent of his own and his supporters' money more than One Million Dollars, being somewhat peeved, raised such a disturbance that the United States Senate refused to seat Vane because, per se, he had spent too much money. He had only spent a little more than either of the other two candidates. And so it has been—a man is unable to obtain the right to represent his Party in the Primary and at the election unless he spends more than his salary for the entire term, but alone what he has to spend, win or lose, at the general election.

It was infinitely better that a small body like the legislature of a State choose the Senators. The choice would be a good deal wiser than that of the people as shown by the comparative record of United States Senators before and after the Amendment.

The fourth paragraph of Section 3 which gave the Vice President a vote only when the Senate was equally divided on any question has, several times, because of the absence of the Vice President at the time the vote was taken, prevented the adoption or the defeat of the act in question—notable the absence of Charley Dawes on one occasion.

The provision in paragraph six of this Section was the provision which saved the neck of Andrew Jackson.

Paragraph seven of this section declares that the President should be where the person impeached by the government should be found. As I have said before, of the thirteen impeachments only four

Any Loan To Soviets Appears Unlikely Now

Era Of "Appeasement" Apparently Has Ended

Senators Given Jolt During OPA Hearings

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Now that President Truman has signed the $3,750,000,000 British loan bill, Washington is awash with speculation about the possibility of a similar loan to the Soviet Union.

The talk in the capital is for a loan somewhere around $1,000,000,000 for the Russians.

However, political observers are certain that the prospects for a Russian loan just now are as dim as the vistas of understanding between the Washington and Moscow governments.

They say that it is extremely unlikely that the President would ask Congress at this time to appropriate any money for the Russians. And there is not now sufficient money left in the Export-Import bank to furnish a loan of the size that Marshal Stalin would desire.

Even if the money could be taken from the bank, where no legislation would be necessary, the administration reportedly would be reluctant to move in that direction.

Refuse To Be Pushed Around

As Secretary of State Byrnes and other key officials have repeatedly said and shown, the era of appeasing Russia is past. The government is not belligerent, simply determined not to be pushed around by the playful Russian bear.

Earlier, if Mr. Truman and Byrnes wanted to give money to Russia and were forced to go through Congress, there is little chance that the Senate and the House would approve any such transaction.

Food officials in Washington look for continued shortages of meats, fats, cheese, butter, evaporated milk, canned and dried fruit, sugar and some cereal products despite price jumps following OPA's death.

Senator received a pointed object lesson at a hotel-restaurant near the Capitol during a luncheon recess of a bitterly-contested committee battle over the OPA revival bill.

Members of the Senate banking committee adjourned to the restaurant for lunch after a long session.

It was the fourth day without price ceilings and the menu (carded this evening) seemed starkly—previously priced at $1.25—$4.00. The printed price had been crossed out and the new price written in with ink.

In a corner of the restaurant was a large sign which stated in bold letters: "Our OPA ceilings."

Needless to say, the senators had plenty of comment to make on this situation.

And it might be only a coincidence, but the deadlocked committee returned to work and reached a compromise.

National Event At Akron To Attract
Many Welsh From This

New Castle will be well represented at the Victory National Gymanfa Ganu which will be held in Akron August 31 and September 1. Henry T. Jones, national president of the association, said today he expected not less than 100 local people would be in attendance. Two bus loads have already been arranged for to leave on Saturday morning, September 1, another bus will probably leave early Saturday afternoon, and many will drive their own cars or go by train.

The Victory National Gymanfa Ganu is headed by Ernest Harris of Akron, O., with Judge Owen M. Roderick as vice chairman. A former New Castle man, Albert C. Harris, is chairman of the music committee.

The Victory Gymanfa will get under way Saturday night, August 31, with a noon lawn party, happy night in the Mayflower hotel, the headquarters of the Gymanfa. On Sunday morning a religious service will be held with the sermon being delivered by Rev. W. D. Reece of Frostburg, Md., assisted by R. D. Davies of Windsor, Ontario.

The chairman of the afternoon session of the Gymanfa will be Professor Tom Hughes of McGill university, Toronto, Ontario, and the conductor will be Anthony William Evans of San Francisco, Calif. The chairman for the evening session will be Edward Blythin, former mayor of Cleveland, O. It is possible that the honorary chairman for the evening will be Richard Llewellyn, author of "How Green Is My Valley".

William Albert Hughes of Cleveland, who was the musical director of the Gymanfa Ganu held here some weeks ago, will be the director of the Victory National Gymanfa. All attendance records of Gymanfas will probably be broken this year as Akron has an armory capable of holding 5000 people.

Priceless Italian Art Pieces Being Sent Back To Italy

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—When the light cruiser, Huntington, left the Philadelphia Naval base Tuesday, headed for troubled Trieste, two priceless Michelangelo art pieces being returned to the Italian government, were aboard.

The Florentine master's plaque, "Madonna and Child" and his statue, "Good Shepherd" will be under constant guard until they are delivered in Naples.

The two pieces were under just as formidable protection when they were brought here early this year for the 75th anniversary of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, in New York City, last April 2.

Sailing aboard the Huntington will be a representative of the Metropolitan who will supervise handling the two art treasures.

Once its mission for the museum is finished, the Huntington will continue to Trieste where a sister ship, the cruiser Fargo, and two destroyers are standing by in case there is trouble while Trieste is being placed under the protection of the United States.

Jap Terrorism After Capture Of Nanking Told

TOKYO July 25.—(INS)—An American surgeon took the witness stand at the Tokyo war crimes trial and told clearly and slowly of instance after instance of murder and torture committed by Japanese troops during the infamous rape of Nanking in December, 1937.

The witness was holding, respected Dr. Robert Wilson, graduate of Princeton and Harvard universities and surgeon at the University hospital in Nanking at the time of the Japanese conquest of the city.

Dr. Wilson said that the Chinese medical staff at the hospital after hearing tales of how the Japanese sacked other Chinese cities, deserted the hospital before the enemy troops arrived.

Continue Six Weeks

The American surgeon testified that it was more than six weeks after the fall of Nanking before the acts of terrorism by Japanese troops against civilians began to subside.

While Dr. Wilson talked, Iwane Matsui, one of the 27 defendants, who was commander of the Nanking troops listened intently, nervously adjusting his earphones and plucking at his collar.

SENATE PASSES O.P.A. EXTENSION MEASURE 53 TO 26

was supplied with a hurried survey made by O.P.A. which reportedly failed to disclose more than a half-dozen industries which would be entitled to price increases under the Berkeley formula.

President Truman contended in his veto of the first O.P.A. extension bill, which was followed by an end of rent and price controls June 30, that the Taft pricing formula would result in inflationary increases.

Barkley Formula

The Barkley formula provides that an industry shall receive the average 1940 price for a product, plus increased costs since then and a reasonable profit. Once that standard is met, the O.P.A. and the secretary of agriculture need grant no price increases unless it could be shown that it would result in expanded production without diminishing the production of some equally needed article.

House-Senate Conference

The house-senate conference report embodying the new legislation cleared the senate shortly after midnight after considerable debate by a vote of 53 to 25. Voting for the report were 41 Democrats, 11 Republicans and one Progressive.

Board Must Be Named

Mr. Truman was expected to submit without delay to the senate for confirmation the names of the three members of the new price control board which will have overall authority over prices. Among those being mentioned for the $12,000 posts were James Brownlee, former deputy economic stabilizer under Chester Bowles, and Eric Johnston, motion picture " czar" and former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

It was reported that the president was not altogether happy over the bill, but that he regarded it as an improvement over the previous measure, with the possible exception of the provisions so drastically cutting certain commodities from controls.

Fishing Proves Popular Pastime At YMCA Camp

Young Y. M. C. A. campers are turning out a bunch of Junior Izaak Walton, according to reports from Camp Fred L. Rantz—many of the boys finding the sport much to their liking.

Most successful of the anglers in the present group at the Slippery Rock site have been Tommy and Dan Whitford, Bobby Crum, Arnold Lewis, Jim Conner, Tom Shaw, Dick Matlock, and Lee Pears.

Softball still holds the spotlight among the recreational pastimes with the "Green Wasps" leading the league. Tuesday's program included volleyball, swimming, softball and a game of "capture the flag." Cabin inspection was won by the tenants of the Fred L. Rantz hut.

In the evening the campers enjoyed a movie entitled "Sky Bandits." Following this they turned in for the night. Taps were played by Tom Hares and Jim Cox.

BOMB EXPLODED NEAR SARATOGA

sub slipped a torpedo into the carrier near Midway Island in January, 1942.

Difficult to Record

But the underwater blast was something different. It was difficult for the human eye to record exactly what took place. But I thought I saw a shock or water wave sweep over the Saratoga. Damage done to its superstructure proves this probably did take place—at the same time the underwater explosion was ripping at her plates.

The Saratoga had two main parts to its superstructure, the forward one being the bridge and the after one its giant square funnel, which also had bridge-like appendages.

The funnel apparently was hit by a wall of water thrown up by the blast, for part of it was smashed flat across the middle of the deck and a small section—although it remained upright—was pushed from port side nearly to starboard.

Tops of masts which were 151 feet above the waterline were snapped off, showing either a wave reached that high or pressure lower down toward the deck caused them to buckle.

Along the Saratoga's sides, from stern to bow and up high on the bridge, were strange vertical yellow streaks which had not been there when we visited the ship two days ago. They may have been caused by heat.

The first Kentucky Derby was run in May of 1875. Aristides won the purse of $300 before a crowd of 10,000 people.

Local OPA Board May Soon Return To Activity Here

Any minute now the ration board force may be going back to work. It all depends upon a fellow named Truman who works in Washington. If he signs the overhauled ration bill the folks will not only go back to work but will also get paid for the nearly four weeks they have been sitting around waiting on action in Washington. A deficiency appropriation would be necessary to provide the funds as the OPA officially died on June 30.

For the past four weeks the ration board employees have found that loafing is hard work. They have reported for duty each day, and all the work to do has been the issuing of sugar ration stamps to those entitled to them, and explaining to a few people that there wasn't any ration board any more.

Some complaints have been received according to J. Lee McPate, chief clerk. The complaints for the most part have been about rent increases, although for the first few days in July there were some complaints on food prices.

The new bill, trimmed from the original OPA legislation will be ready for President Truman shortly. It is probable he will sign it.

WHEN YOU SEEK EMPLOYMENT

"Recently I had an interview with a business man about a secretarial job which, incidentally, I did not get. Do you think my questions as to holidays and Saturday hours might have prejudiced him against me?"

Answer: Doubtless it did! While interviewing a prospective employer, you will double your chances of employment by using your will power to follow these simple rules:

Disregard any prejudices aroused in your mind by any atomism he may show at this particular time, as he may prove to be very amiable after you have passed his tests.

Concentrate on how you can adapt yourself to fit into his scheme of things and assure him of your ability to do so. Until he says he will employ you, avoid discussion of vacations, sick leave or whole Saturdays off.

If the position he outlines to you and the salary are attractive, it's better to wait until after you are hired to inquire about holidays and sick leave. Doubtless his plans for employing you will include an explanation of the hours a week, as well as other details. Wait for him to volunteer the information.

Pay no black pictures of your former employer. Do not admit that you want to work in order to save money because your husband or father has lost his job. If you want the job, your talking theme must be in effect that you know that you can help him, that you are equipped to put over the work, that your duties will interest you, that you will enjoy preparing yourself to fit them better. If you want to be turned down, harp on the reasons why you need the job to meet your personal needs.

Question: I am a bride of a month. My shower was given for me prior to my wedding. What are my duties to these friends?

Answer: As soon as you are settled in your new home give a party inviting all who attended your showers.

LARGEST COP RETIRES

LOWER MERION, Pa.—(INS)—One of the world's largest policemen, George Adamson, has retired from the Lower Merion police force after 25 years service.

According to many menagerie men and animal trainers, a lion or tiger, if caught young, is easier to train than one born in captivity.

Foreign Gals Keep Mayor Busy Checking On GIs

ERIE, Pa., July 25.—(INS)—Of GI Joe, the lover, who left a trail of broken hearts in his soldierly wake, has given Mayor Charles Barber of Erie problems that would perplex the best love-lorn editor.

The mayor took time out from his city duties the other day to explain that he and his staff have been trying to answer a number of letters received from girls whom the soldiers wooed and pursued in foreign lands.

Most of the letters, according to the mayor, are from girls asking for background information on certain fellows from "Erie, Pa." who asked for their hands in marriage.

Some girls just wrote and asked if private so-and-so arrived home safely and inquired as to his well-being. The girls tell the mayor they would write to the soldier personally but don't know his address.

Others write and explain to the mayor the pitiful conditions abroad. One girl wrote she needed a pair of shoes. On a separate sheet of paper she drew an outline of the size of her foot in the hopes the mayor would get some idea as to her shoe size.

The mayor said he was answering many of the letters in which reasonable questions were asked.

It is estimated that 65,000,000 lethal objects planted by the German invaders in Russia have been destroyed.

Kiwanians Hear About Operation Of Local Hospital

Administrator C. R. Youngquist Of Jameson Memorial Hospital Is Speaker Wednesday

Administrator C. R. Youngquist, of the Jameson Memorial hospital, gave an interesting talk to members of the New Castle Kiwanis club at their noon luncheon meeting in The Cadetron, Wednesday, when he explained just how big a business the hospital has become.

Mr. Youngquist told of the functions of the various departments of the hospital, which proved a revelation to the Kiwanians, to most of whom a hospital is a place of mystery, only explored when one becomes ill enough to go there for treatment or an operation.

Mr. Youngquist predicted that in time to come, all hospitals will be in the nature of a health center, or clinic, and that doctors will maintain their offices right on the hospital grounds, where those who specialize in various ailments can be easily accessible for consultation and treatment.

His talk was along the same lines as those given previously before the Rotary and Lions clubs.

William W. Mays, a former first lieutenant and now a student at Allegheny college, saw a defective 4.2 shell explode in a mortar barrel during the battle of the bulge, in Belgium. One member of his squad was killed and five were wounded, Mays said.

An Inquiring Reporter asking this question of average people anywhere would soon discover that John Q. Citizen spends as little as possible for health—until health is gone! Rather than spend money for a physical check-up, or needed dental care, men buy automobile do-dads, and new putters. Women would rather shop for a new hat—or get a permanent. Yet continuing health is far more valuable than any of these—far more essential to happy living. So never neglect your ever-present health needs—and you'll enjoy life more!—Longer, too! ## Navy Recruiting Station Gets Aid On Reserve Program

Officer And Yeoman Coming Here Next Week To Swear In Men Enlisting In Inactive Reserve

Chief John P. Burrell, of the local Navy Recruiting Station, located in the Post Office, announced today that an officer and yeoman from the Pittsburgh station will be at the New Castle recruiting office from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m., on July 31, for the purpose of executing enlistment papers and the swearing in of men in this area, who desire to join the V-6 Inactive Navy Reserve.

Chief Burrell, states that these trips are being made regularly for the purpose of enlisting those men who cannot come to the main station in Pittsburgh, because their present employment does not permit it.

To those men who have not as yet become members of the V-6 Inactive Reserve, Chief Burrell wishes to point out the following benefits which a member of the V-6 receives:

- You are not required to report to your draft board as long as you remain in reserve status.
  - You keep your highest wartime rank or rating and have a chance for advancement.
  - Service in the Reserve adds up for longevity purposes the same as active duty in the Navy.
  - In the event of possible return to active duty, membership would pay off in dollars and cents. You do receive a discharge certificate even though you enroll 24 hours after discharge at your separation center.
  - No physical examination is required for enrollment.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

IN THE OPEN

When berrying time comes round the outdoorsman rummages through his cellar shelves in a vain search for last year's "picking can." He knows exactly where he put it, but somehow it is never there when he is making ready for the annual foray into the blackberry tangle. He mutters a few unkind words about people cleaning house and getting into his stuff. Then he hunts up a can of about two-quart capacity and a piece of soft wire. With a small nail he punches two holes in the top edge of this can and rigs a handle with the wire.

The purpose of the handle is not to carry the can, but to provide the necessary harness for hanging the can on his belt. Long ago he discovered the advantages of having both hands free when combing a berry patch—particularly when in competition with other pickers who have found his favorite spot, and are usually hard at work when he arrives on the scene. Once in the field and ready to go, he hides his bucket by a tree or some other prominent landmark, hangs on his picking can, and wades in with both hands flying.

Berry Fields Hot And Dry
The berry field lay hot and dry and shimmering under a July sun which had burned a hole through the overcast blanket. A tiger saw lowly butterfly came by to visit awhile with the tall bull thistle whose single purple bloom offered a royal setting for the swallowtail's gorgeous costume. Somewhere across the field a lone cicada struck up his late-summer theme song. Brown-eyed Susans were blooming in great drifts across the barren acreage. This area has been "farmed out."

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent urinary passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging headache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

years ago and has now reverted to a natural garden of simple beauty. I changed to corduroys and half-boots against the briars, fastened on my belt can, and waded through a thick growth of poison ivy toward the spot where the larger berries grow. For the first ten minutes more berries found their way into my mouth than into the can. The first brook trout from the frying pan the first sweet corn from the garden rows and the first handful of dead-ripe blackberries. These are epicurean highlights of the outdoorsman's yearly literary.

Soon my hands took on a satisfying purple tint and my chin looked as though I had been through a barroom brawl. I popped a particularly juicy berry into my mouth. A "stink bug" had also sampled this morsel a few seconds before. Right there I lost taste for the delicious fruits and settled down to a common labor in the thickets, filling the belt bucket in short order. Dewberries blanketed the ground in portions of the field, competing with broom grass and cinquefoil for a place in the sun. Their fat ripened fruits have a distinctive taste but I can never get enthused about them when ripe blackberries are close at hand.

Bittersweet Develops
Along the fence-row edging a portion of my favorite berry field a magnificent stand of bittersweet has become firmly established. I walked up the shaded roadway to check on the fall prospects from these vines. There had been a generous "hatch" of the beautiful butterfly known as the eyed wood-nymph in this region. The mature insects were all about, fluttering ahead in the roadway and darting across the open sunlit glades in the woodland by the roadside. Fat clusters of berries hung in profusion on the bittersweet vines. The fence-row will be a scene of flaming beauty in another month or so.

The viburnum known as nanny-berry has also set much fruit this year, and I noted many clusters of unripe fruits on the dogwood growing in the thickets. I turned back through the field to explore a small wooded sully which centers the whole area. The big purple flower heads of the bull thistle were much in evidence. Here and there a cluster of orange milkweed splashed the landscape with a smear of intensely brilliant color. The little purple milkwort was also abundant, but badly outclassed by its more showy associates.

Butterflies Hover
Butterflies of all sizes and description hovered over the field, attracted by the colorful flower show which promised rich rewards in nectar. I came to the small ravine and found that its upper reaches embraced a little grove of quaking aspen, the spires all a-tremble with a rhythmic rustling as cool and inviting as the rippling of the tiny stream which meanders through the sully, finding its source in a strong spring further in the hillside. Beautiful clumps of Christmas fern lined the banks of this miniature gorge. The little ebony sporewort has also found a home here and I saw the tall white spires of Culvers' root towering over the undergrowth on the far bank.

All the joys of going a-berrying are not confined to the actual picking. For every bucket of fruit he brings in the countryman also brings home "bushels" of pleasant memories of the sights and sounds of the lazy July day among the bramble bushes. These will be properly labeled and stored away against the winter months. He can buy his berries commercially packed—and tasteless watery things they are—but at no price he purchase a quart or two of memories. These he has to pick and can for himself.

PHILIPPINE LOAN
OF $75,000,000 IS ASKED BY SNYDER

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(INS)—Secretary of Treasury John W. Snyder Wednesday asked congress to authorize a 75 million dollar loan to the new Philippine Republic. Snyder informed the House banking committee in a statement that he could not authorize the granting of the Philippine request of a 100 million dollar credit for the current fiscal year.

The secretary said the 75 million dollar sum had been recommended by the national advisory council on international monetary and financial problems as the maximum necessary even if the Philippine government took no step to increase its revenues beyond those already outlined in its budget.

Fifteen Per Cent Of Prisoners Fail To 'Go Straight'

PITTSBURGH, July 25.—(INS)—Warden W. P. Ashe declared Tuesday that slightly more than 15 per cent of all prisoners who have served a term in Western penitentiary fail to "go straight" and end up in prison a second time.

The warden, speaking recently before the delegates to the annual Pennsylvania Chiefs Association assembled in Pittsburgh, said this percentage has not varied in 25 years, despite the many modern practices adopted by penal institutions.

Ashe told the chiefs the state was setting up a central classification and distribution center for prisoners at White Hall, near Harrisburg.

There, according to the warden, the law violators will be classified and sent to what he termed "maximum, medium or minimum institutions," depending upon the degree of their crimes.

He also told the law enforcement officers that the "penal population" falls off during wars and depressions and that his penitentiary now has approximately 500 vacancies.

Earlier, H. S. Carey, of Altoona, chairman of the education committee, reported the association was establishing a traffic officers' training school at Penn State College, September 30 thru October 11.

Direct Conflict Over Probable Clothing Prices

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(INS)—There was direct conflict today between the OPA and the National Retail Dry Goods Association on the question of whether Americans are going to get cheaper or more costly clothing this fall.

A spokesman for the Retail Association predicted that cheaper shirts and other clothing items will appear in stores within four months as a result of increased production.

He made his forecast after OPA officials declared that higher prices for most items of woolen and cotton clothing would be in effect by fall because of provisions in the new OPA bill.

The Retail Association spokesman conceded that there might be some slight temporary increases in the prices of a few clothing items, but he added:

Depends On Production

"It all depends on production. We expect to see cheaper shirts on the market in four months because of a jump in production."

He also criticized the government's wage policy, declaring that if there were any increases in clothing prices they would result from wage boosts granted to workers in the textile industry.

The OPA officials predicted increases in clothing prices after studying an amendment to the OPA bill requiring the agency to use a new formula in computing textile prices.

The amendment makes it unlawful for OPA to maintain maximum prices on textiles unless such prices are based on cotton or wool costs, plus an average of mill conversion costs and a reasonable profit.

Higher Ceilings

OPA officials said that this amendment would mean higher textile ceilings. They claimed that these higher textile prices eventually will result in higher prices for clothing made from cotton or wool.

The officials expect OPA to compute the new textile ceilings within 30 days. They said that it would be two or three more months before textile increases would be reflected in clothing prices.

Meanwhile, OPA prepared to rush through a flood of new pricing orders. Spokesmen said that the agency has between 100 and 125 new orders on prices which will be announced as quickly as possible after enactment of the new OPA bill.

Some of these orders will authorize higher prices and others will exempt commodities from control. OPA sources said that price increases would be authorized for some durable goods, some building materials and many minor items.

They explained that a series of products that do not figure materially in the cost of living will be exempt from price controls.

were found guilty. One of them—the last person impeached—was a United States District Judge in Southern Florida, Halsted L. Ritter. He was impeached on charges of financial transactions, growing out of or associated with fees allowed to lawyers. He was acquitted by the Senate on six out of seven counts, on the seventh he was voted guilty 56 to 38, and the Senate on April 17th, 1936 removed him from office, after having by 76 to 0 voted not to extend the punishment to disqualification to hold office. He lost his job but he could seek another one. It was in a way a Scotch verdict.

County Prisoners Are Serving Time For Many Reasons

Local law violators aren't all copycats, according to the records at the county court house. In fact, they can manage to get some variety of a limited sort into the old story of breaking the law and getting arrested for it.

Thirty days is a long time to be chinning yourself on bars, but the general public seems to feel that, after all, something ought to be done with the people who insist on disturbing the peace. Hence the names on the list.

And almost every name on the list has a different reason or combination of reasons for the arrest. Just run a finger down the line and it reads like this:

Drunk and disorderly conduct, assault and battery, violation of parole, manslaughter, surety of the peace, non support, burglary, drunkenness, larceny, receiving stolen goods, indecent exposure, failure to disclose identity, violation of the motor code, panhandling, adultery, resisting an officer, and more of the same.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

don't get in the water, and he'll say, 'But I'm going to get in the water,' and I'll say, 'No, you are not. If you do, you'll get spanked.' Then he'll say, 'I'm not going to say I'm not when I am, and I'll say, 'You heard what mother said,' and he'll go out grumbling to himself that he is going to get into the water. He goes out and usually comes in with wet feet. I have spanked and spanked him but it doesn't do any good."

My reply in part: "It's not clear what you mean by 'doing what I ask.' I trust that when this child is doing something you are sure he must never do, as playing with fire, turning on the gas jet, or deliberately striking your polished furniture with a metal toy, you don't ask him not to do it. Tell him not to do it, and just once. If he fails to stop promptly, spank him soundly or, if he will stay where put, assign him to sit in a chair where you can see him for exactly 20 minutes. If you never repeat the 'No' or 'Don't,' he won't find occasion to continue till you 'get good and mad.' There'll be nothing for you to get mad about."

Foolish Argument

How foolish you need to carry on that argument with him about going out and getting wet. Since he knows clearly that he must not get into the water, you should never again need to warn him. Henceforth, when he can easily be tempted to play in the water, be right there on hand to make sure he gets instant adequate pain the moment he enters that water.

To be effective, the spanking must be immediate and without doubt or exception, and it should rarely hurt. Chances are your spankings are mere fleabites. I hope this lad has opportunity during warm weather to dip and pour water, even to wade in it.

When you make a request of that child, as "Please bring me the comb," let him choose whether to do it or not. Show no irritation whatever should he not accede then, if you don't want to have a stubborn child. My bulletin on stubbornness may be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.

The problem when you have company is more complicated. If, however, you have established "No" as final at other times, it should be effective when guests are present. Try to make him feel a worthy person then. Perhaps he may be induced to do something for the guest, as taking her wraps, finding a chair for her, or helping serve her tea, so as to win attention in a way socially approved.

Wonderful if you could get him to build in another room, or the corner of the same room, and have the guest, on departing, see and admire his construction. After the guest has gone, compliment him for his good ways. Have lots of fun with him, at other times, reading often to him, enjoying his yarns of fancy, answering his questions, smiling and laughing with him and often fondling him.

DRYING AND SOAKING

Maybe Mrs. Neah served some dried fruit while she was living in the ark for a year or so. She had lots of water for soaking it. Dried fruit is digestible when eaten as is but most people do not like it that way.

In order to restore it to some resemblance to its original form, it has to be soaked.

The method of soaking is a rather important proposition. While the fruit takes up some of the soaking water it also gives up some things to the water. These things are valuable and should not be wasted. The soaking water should not be thrown away but used for the cooking water and served with the fruit.

The same procedure should be followed for dried vegetables.

There is not much economy in going to the trouble of drying fruits or vegetables and then throwing the best part away in the soaking water.

It is believed that the greatest amount of money ever paid for a painting was the sum of $1,166,000 paid by Andrew Mellon for the Alba Madonna by Raphael.

A man falls freely at about 118 miles per hour, but with a standard parachute he falls at about 14 miles per hour.

Before a car is touched up, extra care should be taken that every particle of rust is completely removed with emery paper. If this is not done, the rusting may continue under the paint.

The American Magazine reports a new strawberry, as big as an apricot, is about to make its debut. A West Coast manufacturer already is freezing the fruit preparatory to marketing.

Seek To Revise State Penal Code To Curb Gamblers

Sub-Committee To Attempt To Plug
Loop-Holes In Code To Get More Convictions

HARRISBURG, July 25.—(INS)—A sub-committee of the joint state government commission is considering recommendations for plugging loopholes in Pennsylvania's penal code by which gamblers "can squirm out of convictions."

The committee, considering revision of the penal code, planned additional conferences with an advisory group consisting of jurists, district attorneys and law school deans prior to submitting recommendations to the general assembly in January.

"Racketeering, in any form, and scalping of the public must be stopped," Sen. Paul M. Crider (R) Franklin, committee chairman, emphasized.

Changes Proposed
Changes recommended included prohibition of the manufacture of lottery tickets or devices and "elimination of the requirement that in book-making on horse racing the place of business must contain books, apparatus or paraphernalia."

"Ticket scalping was made a summary offense, and the sale of tickets to any theater or place of amusement in excess of the established admission price is now made a criminal offense, irrespective of who makes the increased charge," the committee said.

"The uniform firearms act is being given further consideration to determine whether additional changes are necessary in order to afford further protection to the public," it was reported.

Sales of firearms to minors would result in a "criminal penalty" even though the purchaser was under 21 years of age, under one proposed revision.

The study was authorized by the general assembly in 1945 in order to eliminate contradictions in the commonwealth's penal code.

REPORT RUSSIANS MAKING THOUSANDS OF CHEAP PLANES

LONDON, July 25.—(INS)—The London Daily Graphic reported today that Russia is turning out thousands of cheap "one mission" planes in conjunction with addition of flying courses in the advanced curriculum of Soviet schools.

The newspaper's aid correspondent said the twin developments under a new accelerated aviation development program constitute evidence that Russia is concentrating on a more powerful military air force.

Farmers More Thrifty Than City Dwellers

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Farm folk are inclined to save more money than city dwellers with the same income, a Federal Reserve Board survey showed recently.

Of those living in rural areas, 37 per cent were classed as "large savers" while only 13 percent in metropolitan areas were given that classification.

"This difference may be in part explained by lower prices and non-monetary income," the survey reporter said.

Among occupational groups, families headed by farm operators, self-employed business men, and professional and white collar workers were found to have the biggest proportion of "large savers" in the order named.

Arrest Suspect In Slaying Of Ohio Housewife

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 25.—(INS)—State police took into custody Wednesday a man whom they tentatively identified as Delbert Spencer, a former West Virginia railroad employee, who was wanted in Ohio in connection with the slaying of a 33-year-old housewife.

State Patrolman C. P. Taylor said he picked up the suspect in Eleanor, W. Va., 25 miles east of Charleston, shortly after two residents reported a suspicious-looking man fired two shots at them and fled into the woods.

Earlier, police had been tipped that Spencer was riding on a train headed for Dunbar, W. Va., but said he escaped when he talked the railroad conductor into making an emergency stop before the train reached its destination.

Spencer, according to police, allegedly shot and killed Mrs. Pauline Bailey of Athens, O. Her 10-year-old son was a witness to the shooting, police reported.

Rules Are More Strict About Employment Of Teen-Age Girls, Boys

Change In State Statute Forbids
Girls Under 21 To Work
Later Than 9 P. M.

Employers of minors under 16 years of age should be alert to the fact that the young employees must have general employment certificates for permanent jobs which they will hold if they do not go to school this term, according to an announcement from the office of School Superintendent Frank L. Burton.

In accordance with the Order of Revocation under the Walsh-Healey act, concerns having public contracts in excess of $10,000 have not been permitted to hire girls under 18 years of age since September 4, 1945.

A letter from the the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry states that concerns which had war permits extending hours of work must go back to the former status. As of June 30, women and girls may work only eight hours a day and 44 hours a week, and the employment of girls under 21 years of age later than 9 o'clock in the evening is prohibited.

Employment of younger girls at curb service places after 9 o'clock is a violation of the state statute, the letter continues.

PSYCHIC CHIMPUNKS

GRANT PASS, Ore.—(INS)—The chipmunks at the Oregon Caves disappeared during the war years when the resort was closed and there were no visitors, or free meals. Now the chipmunks must be spreading the word through the Siskiyou mountains that the visitors are back at the caves. They are back in full force too.

Potato growing is a big agricultural industry in Pennsylvania, the 1945 crop being worth nearly $27,000,000.

Cutting Oats On Some Farms Before Wheat

Ordinarily the cutting of wheat is done before oats, usually about two weeks before. This year, on many farms throughout the county, oats are being cut while the wheat is still standing in the fields.

John Long, a farmer of North Beaver township, who has farmed all his life, from Alabama and Tennessee, through Ohio and Pennsylvania, has offered an explanation:

Conditions Right

It seems that in the early spring the weather and ground were right for early planting and so the seed was sown earlier than it has been in other years.

After the oats was in the ground, there was an abundance of rain. As the oats began to head it was hot and dry, ripening the grain faster than in previous years.

Wheat has a stronger stock than oats and many farmers are cutting the oats before the wheat and rain beats it down. Wheat, being stronger, can withstand the force of the elements.

Oats can be cut and stored with a higher moisture content than wheat, Farmer Long explained. Therefore, oats can be cut before it is quite dry and when stored it will not heat and spoil like wheat.

Three Reasons

At the Agriculture Extension association office, L. C. Dayton reported that there are three reasons for cutting oats early:

1. Some farmers are planting a variety of oats, Vieckland oats, that requires a shorter season to mature.

2. Farmers were able to plant oats earlier this year than in other years, due to weather conditions.

3. On some farms they may be cutting the oats with a binder, while the neighbor has left his wheat to be combined. Combined wheat is left standing to dry thoroughly.

FIND USE FOR LOWLY PINE

ROSEBURG, Ore. — (INS) — The lowly lodge pole pine, once scorned by woodsmen as an inferior type of wood and of little value, is now going to do an important job for America. M. M. Nelson, Umpqua national forest supervisor, said 60,000 of the poles will be taken out of the forest this year, the first of several millions to be used by the rural electrification administration in stringing power lines in the mid-west.

Quarantine For Polio Questionable

CHICAGO, July 25.—(INS)—The usefulness of quarantines established by some states to prevent the spread of poliomyelitis was termed "highly questionable" today in an editorial in the American Medical Association Journal.

The editorial cited the quarantine imposed by Georgia against all persons coming from Florida during an outbreak of polio in that state commented.

"The overwhelming consensus of authorities in epidemiology and public health is that such interstate quarantine does not serve any useful purpose in preventing the spread of poliomyelitis."

"In the absence of more specific knowledge on the methods of spread of the poliomyelitis virus than is now available, the state quarantine can only be considered reminiscent of the old practice of shot-gun quarantine against yellow fever before learning the role of the yellow fever-bearing mosquito."

STUDIES U. S. METHODS

DENVER — (INS) — H. L. Uppal, of Punjab, India, is in Denver to study American dam construction and road building methods preparatory to a billion-dollar construction program in his native land. Uppal, who is in charge of hydraulic laboratories for the Punjab Irrigation department, will remain in Denver for four months.

Special Services At King's Chapel

Appropriate Programs Will Feature 142nd Anniversary Observance On Sunday

Members of King's Chapel Methodist church, Pulaski road, have completed plans for three special assemblies on Sunday, July 28, to celebrate the 142nd anniversary of the founding of the church.

The Rev. Paul E. Aley, minister of the church, will preach at the morning worship service at 11:15 o'clock. In the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Dr. A. C. Morrill, dean of the faculty of Geneva college, will be the speaker. A musical program will be presented in the evening at 7:30 o'clock when the Consistory Male chorus, of New Castle, will sing.

WORLD TRADE CENTER
CHICAGO — (INS) — A state-financed world trade center is slated for construction in New York City to stimulate international trade, the Council of State Government reports. The New York legislature appropriated $100,000 for creation of the center, to be under supervision of a nine-man board of directors appointed by the governor. It is planned to pattern the new organization after the pre-war World Trade Center of Leipzig, Germany.

In Western History
Underway In Idaho

BURLEY, Idaho — You wouldn't think such a little criminal could cause such a commotion.

It was just a week ago Sunday that the suspect first was spotted here, hiding in a shipment of potatoes said to have come from California.

The worker who first spotted him rapidly reported his suspicions.
Federal photographs were checked.
It was true—and within a matter of hours the alarm was spread.

State headquarters at Boise were alerted. Word flashed on to Washington. Newspaper and radio descriptions were sent out. State and federal sleuths rushed to Burley.
Meanwhile from all walks of life—farmers, ranchers, bankers, gardeners, businessmen, truckers — all joined in the search. Weapons were issued and private airplanes mobilized.

Biggest Bug-Hunt

And the biggest bug-hunt in western history was underway!

That's right—bug-hunt. Cause of the state-wide alarm was a little varmint no bigger than a paring off your fingernail. About a quarter of an inch long with a wingspread of perhaps half an inch at best, the grayish-brown criminal with mottled dark spots on his back is known as the potato tuberworm moth.

And he's worth approximately thirty-five million dollars to Idaho —dead, that is!

Of course, that price includes the demise of all of his relatives, too.
For the tuberworm moth is a very prolific cuss. He (or she, if you must be technical) lays eggs all over the place, not only on potatoes and the leaves of potato plants, but also in gardens, trash piles and almost any old corner that's handy.

Without going too deeply into the varmint's vagaries. It can be stated that his (or her) eggs hatch little greenish or pinkish-white caterpillars which are never satisfied until they chew their way into a spud and settle down to light housekeeping.

By the time they, in turn, become moths, there's practically nothing left of the potato.

To further clarify the case, it should be explained that there are enough citizens raising potatoes up and down Idaho's Snake River valley to bring in the aforementioned thirty-five million iron men per annum—which is a lot of doubloons, even during inflation!

Normally, the tuberworm doesn't work this far north in the inland states, sticking chiefly to the south and the warmer coastal sectors.
However, Idaho's previous immunity now is questioned since this is an especially hot, dry season—conditions under which the tuberworm thrives.

Since Burley is more or less the center of the state's potato industry, there are dehydration and potato flour plants here. Hence, culls sometimes come from outside for such processing.

"It was in a shipment of culls from California that the tuberworm moth slipped in," said Glen Bodily, Cassia County agent whose office is serving as headquarters for the fight.

And it is a fight. This year's crop is not particularly threatened. But should the insect adopt Idaho for future operations, next year's crop literally would be riddled.

Hence, ever inch of ground near the area where the moth first was found is being sprayed with DDT.
Crews working with truck, motor and hand-sprays are working the blocks, building by building and lot by lot. Trash piles are being uprooted and gardens sprayed throughout the town. Dusting airplanes from nearby towns have taken up the task beyond city limits, spraying the surrounding sector.

Elsewhere in Idaho, reports that the moth has been seen has brought similar hurries of activity, even on suspicion. Currently, authorities believe the tuberworm threat has been stopped.

However, "we won't know until next year, probably," Bodily said, since the pest does its worst damage to stored potatoes.

The first American friction matches were patented in 1837 by Alonzo Dwight Phillips, a powder maker. Phillips made his matches by hand, and peddled them from a wagon at about one cent per match, as compared with the one-sixtieth of a cent a match costs today.

Highway Safety Committee Plans Parley August 19

Conference To Launch Statewide Campaign To Reduce Deaths By Auto Accidents

HARRISBURG, July 25.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin's highway safety committee swung into action today to halt the increasing accident toll and scheduled a conference at Harrisburg August 19 to draft a program to safeguard human life. The governor moved to halt the skyrocketing highway death rate close on the heels of the department of revenue's disclosure that 723 persons were fatally injured in highway accidents during the first five months of this year, an increase of 291 over a similar period in 1945. The governor and the committee, composed of top state officials, conferred for nearly two hours yesterday on plans for the session expected to be attended by several hundred delegates. Governor Martin will address the entire group in the House of Representatives at the state capitol and then delegates will consider highway education, law enforcement and engineering problems before recommending a broad highway safety program, the spokesman explained. Representatives of the Chiefs of Police Association, Boy and Girl Scouts, mayors, burgesses, state government and automobile clubs were expected to attend the meeting. The general assembly has appropriated $25,000 for the committee. "We hope to formulate a program which will help to reduce the number of deaths and injuries resulting from accidents on Pennsylvania highways," the spokesman said. All phases of highway safety including the training of pedestrians, bus drivers, student safety patrols and bicycle operation were expected to be considered at the meeting. Members of the committee with whom Governor Martin conferred include State Police Commissioner C. M. Wilhelm, Revenue Secretary David W. Harris, T. Elmer Transeau, director of the bureau of highway safety and Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis B. Haas. Representatives of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, Keystone Automobile club and the Pennsylvania Automotive Association attended the meeting.

Luminous Streaks Follow Explosion

Scientist Describes Picture After Explosion Of Underwater A-Bomb

By JACK DE MENT, Research Chemist (Written Expressly for I. N. S.) ABOARD USS PANAMINT, Off Bikini, July 25—After the underwater atomic bomb explosion this morning, bright bluish and yellowish white streaks extended for nearly two miles along the target ship array in Bikini lagoon.

These very unusual contrasting fluorescent-like colorations were of considerable interest to me as an investigator of luminescence phenomena. Luminous streaks were especially bright at the point of detonation, showing strongly in tropical sunlight. Their origin and nature is still a matter of conjecture—they may have arisen by one or more of several processes.

Detachable For Miles Fluorescein, a crystalline substance used as a sea marker because its yellow glow is detectable for miles even when the dye is diluted out tens of millions of times, is perhaps one cause of this effect. But radioactivity radiations may also explain the whitish glow which fluorescein does not show. The countless neutrons released in the Bikini sea-water quite possibly caused the emission of light known in fluor-chemistry as "neutronoluminescence". Further, other radioactive particles have this effect. The light emitted in gradual recombination of atomic hydrogen and oxygen gases offers a third possible answer. These gases are formed in the breakdown of water by an atomic blast.

Awe-Inspiring It was the grandest of privileges for me to witness one of the grandest yet weirdest and awe-inspiring spectacles human eyes ever beheld. The Bikini underwater atomic explosion defied comparison with things of the ordinary world. I must confess that watching thru binoculars I momentarily had the illusion that our ship might also be engulfed. Fortunately naked eyes brought us back to the comforting reality of safety.

It is noteworthy that our captain appeared to share our outlook when the white-crested wave several miles long began running from the target area.

The Panamint was given "hard right rudder" so as to head into any waves that might reach us.

It Finally Occurs, Fire Truck Burns

IRWIN, Pa., July 25—(INS)—There was a chagrined group of firemen in Irwin.

Their truck caught fire today while they were returning from fighting a six-alarm blaze in nearby Stewardsville.

Fire Chief Russell May said the flames spread rapidly and all the firemen could do was stand idly by and watch the vehicle burn.

The firehouse is not a mouse, but a bird.

Observers Will Wait Several Days At Blast Scene

NEW YORK, July 25—(INS)—Vice-Admiral W. H. P. Blandy said today that observer vessels at the Bikini atomic experiment may wait as long as three to five days before entering the radio-active target area.

Following the first test, observers moved into the lagoon within 10 hours.

Blandy added he had no conclusive proof yet that five submarines on the floor of the lagoon were seriously damaged. His statement was reported by NBC.

Social Security And Withholding Taxes Due Now

Employers Must Make Return To Internal Revenue Department By Next Wednesday

Local employers are reminded that next Wednesday is the deadline for filing returns and making payment for the second quarter of 1946 on their social security and withholding taxes.

G. K. Funkhouser, division chief here, with offices in room 201, Post Office building, states that these returns must be in the local office or in the office of the Deputy Collector at Pittsburgh by next Wednesday, July 31. Otherwise, they may be considered delinquent, which would result in a penalty being attached.

Chestnut Tree Making Comeback In Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 25—The chestnut, familiar to the Pennsylvania scene since the days of the Indians, is coming back.

Killed off by blight after the turn of the century, the American chestnut tree is being replaced by a hardy hybrid, W. W. Radcliffe, of the Bartlett company, reported to-day. Several hundred saplings of the new blight-resistant Bartlett chestnut have been planted on estates throughout the Middle Atlantic states during the past 12 years. "These five years old or more already are beginning to bear," Mr. Radcliffe said.

Large Sum Being Paid Out Here In Subsidies For Milk

Checks for milk subsidies are going out this week to milk producers in Lawrence county for April, May and June. The checks are being mailed from the Agricultural Conservation office and the total will approximate $100,000, it is said.

In April, when the milk producer was paid $3.46 per hundred weight for 3.5 milk, the Federal government added 76 cents per hundred weight as subsidy. The subsidy was cut to 55 cents per 100 in May when the price per hundred weight for milk was $3.45 to the producer. In June the price paid to the milk producer went to $3.60 per hundred weight for 3.5 milk and the subsidy remained at 55 cents per hundred.

With the abandonment of the OPA the milk subsidies ceased and the price of milk soared. Whether or not milk subsidies will be included in the new OPA bill remains to be seen.

OPA Prices Will Prevail For Milk

HARRISBURG, July 25.—(INS)—The State Justice Department was prepared today to advise the Milk Control Commission that O. P. A. ceilings on milk would prevail if they were below minimum prices fixed by the M. C. C.

The question was settled by the courts under the old O. P. A., a spokesman said, "and what was true then is still true."

Milk Commissioner John J. Snyder said the state agency was bound by the rulings of the Justice Department but he forecast a series of court actions if a conflict developed in prices.

Murray Favored To Beat Daniels

PITTSBURGH, July 25.—(INS)—Lee Q. Murray, a rangy heavyweight contender, today was an odds-on favorite to beat Ben Daniels of Chicago in a scheduled 10-round fight tonight at Zivic Arena in Pittsburgh.

Murray recently moved into the heavyweight limelight by defeating Jimmie Bivins, the NBA's rated No. 1 contender for Joe Louis' crown. Daniels' claim to fame is that he was one of the Brown Bombers' sparring partners for Joe's recent fight with Billy Conn.

Terrace School Is Being Renovated

Work of renovating the old Terrace avenue school is under way with the women of the parish of St. Philip and James church in charge. Secured by the St. Philip and James church sometime ago, the school is to be used as a parochial school, Rev. Fr. V. V. Stancielewski, pastor of the church, announced.

Not having been used in about ten years much painting and plastering is yet to be done. With paints and plaster hard to get, Fr. Stancielewski said that the opening of the school may be delayed somewhat.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

(L.N.S. Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, July 25.—Ingrid Bergman, who started smoking two months ago to get in practice for a film role, now finds it's a habit. "It's very relaxing," she said, "I don't inhale yet but I suppose I will."

Ingrid started smoking for her role as Joan in "Arch of Triumph" for Enterprise.

"I faked smoking a couple of times for roles in pictures, but I have to smoke so much in this one I knew I had to do the real thing," she explained. She laughed and said:

"Now, you see, I have two habits."

Ingrid always used to chew a piece of gum for relaxation, much to the quiet, of course. She had to give that up because of the lack of gum during the war.

"I guess I smoke about 10 or 11 cigarettes a day now," she said.

Your reporter, who smokes two packs, said he didn't think that was very much.

Ingrid said she's most anxious to go to New York for her play, "Maid of Orleans," as soon as she finishes her film assignment.

"I'll be my first play since 'Anna Christie' in 1941," she said. "If I don't do a play soon, I'll never do one. The stage is so different from the screen. I get nervous thinking about it."

"You don't really," said your reporter.

"Oh, yes I do," Ingrid replied. "I get scared stiff thinking of opening night. But, after that I'll be all right."

Miss B's co-star, Charles Boyer, with whom she was so sensational in her academy award winning "Gaslight," is finally going back to Paris for a visit in February.

"I intend to make a picture in France, but it's hardly likely that I'll be able to do it at that time," Boyer said. "I'll probably select a picture and then return at a later date to make it."

A joke on Director Allan Dawn over at Republic has just misfired. Allan arrived on the set of "Calendar Girl" the other day to find his regular canvas chair replaced by a rocking chair with his name painted on it.

Allan took his seat and a moment later a beautiful blonde cutie arrived to rock him.

Allan really enjoyed the laugh at his own expense.

He explained afterwards to your reporter:

"You know, a rocking chair is very comfortable. You can really relax while you work. I wonder why someone didn't think of it before."

British Get Warnings Of New Attacks

JERUSALEM, July 25.—(INS)—Jewish extremists ignored British moves to eradicate underground groups in the Holy Land today and bombed government offices with telephoned warnings of a new bombing campaign.

Whispered threats—apparently directed by Izzat Zaki Leumi, whose members dynamited the King David Hotel—already have been heard in Jerusalem's police headquarters and post offices, and in the offices of the Palestine railway in Haifa.

Hushed voices warned in each case that the "premises are about to be blown up."

Despite the threats, high military authorities are outlining final tactics to what promises to be the greatest military operation ever staged in the Middle East.

To Smash Terrorists

A spokesman said object of the drive is to "completely smash all terrorist organizations."

He said checkpoints on all roads leading into the city of Jerusalem will continue relentlessly. But that orders to British troops will continue to stress "tolerance" until senior officers conclude their drastic plans.

Official casualty figures on the hotel bombing now show 176 persons were killed or wounded. They include 65 dead, 47 injured and 58 missing.

Outrage Condemned

Although publication in London of an official British white paper linked leaders of the Jewish agency with extremist activities, Zionist spokesmen have almost unanimously condemned the bank outrage.

Some Jewish sources predict that Haganah, strongest underground organization in Palestine, will offer to aid the British in finding Izzat and members of the Stern group, who have also been accused of participating in the hotel explosion.

The Liberal Hebrew newspaper Haaretz, meanwhile, has demanded the immediate resignation of all executives of the Jewish agency and the Jewish national council.

The newspaper said: "We must frankly state that we cannot face the future under leadership responsible for such failures, short-sightedness and inefficiency."

Threats of fratricidal strife among the Jews, as well as rumormongers of an Arab-Jewish war has produced an atmosphere of almost unbearable tension in Jerusalem.

It is freely predicted that the entire Holy Land will be put under martial law to aid the British in their proposed campaign.

States Prices Increases On Numerous Food Items Made With OPA Approval

Ralph E. Peterson, head of a local wholesale grocery firm, pointed out today that many of the price increases that have occurred since OPA went out of existence June 30 are the result of boosts authorized by the federal agency earlier in June but which did not take effect until now.

Expiration of the subsidy program also required price increases without providing additional revenue for either the retailer, wholesaler or manufacturer.

"It looks to the public as though prices went up immediately after OPA expired," Mr. Peterson said. "Actually to date, many businesses are still operating under OPA controls and have raised prices in accordance with increases authorized earlier by OPA which did not become effective until the corner grocery stores began selling merchandise bought at the higher prices."

Mr. Peterson took the price pattern of evaporated milk in recent weeks as an example to prove his point of what has happened to a number of items.

He explained: "Evaporated milk has had three price increases in the past two weeks, of which two were granted before OPA went out of existence and one due to the cancellation of subsidies."

"A case of 48 large cans of evaporated milk cost our company $4.10 prior to May 21. On that date, canned milk packers were authorized by OPA to raise their wholesale selling price 25 cents a case to $4.35. On June 17 they were again authorized by OPA to increase their price another 35 cents, bringing it to $4.70."

"All dealers—wholesale and retail—were authorized to raise their selling prices when new merchandise reached them, following the usual OPA pricing formula. But because of stocks on hand, the prices did not appear generally until around June 30, the day OPA went out of existence."

Pentecostals Elect Local Minister As General Evangelist

Denomination To Open Bible School And College On Hickory Grove Site At Greenville

Rev. Charles Bailey of 1812 East Washington street has been chosen general evangelist of the Pentecostal Holiness church at the Pennsylvania conference, which just closed sessions at the Hickory Grove camp grounds in Greenville, Pa.

The territory of Evangelist Bailey will take in the entire nation, he being permitted by the church to preach in any church of the denomination in the United States.

At the conference the establishment of a permanent Bible school in Greenville was assured by the session at the Hickory Grove camp grounds, which has been taken over by the Pentecostal group.

Work has already been started on one building of the school, with the school to utilize the former Hemphill school, which is already in use on the conference grounds as a camp dormitory. Due to the rapid growth of the denomination throughout the country, the decision to establish the school has been reached.

Twelve instructors will constitute the initial staff of the school, with sessions to be of nine months duration.

Jesus and the multitude of people.

"Our Father Who art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy name."—Matt. 6:9.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for July 25 is: Exodus 20:7; Leviticus 19:12; Isaiah 1:11-18; Matthew 5:33-37; 6:5-9, 7:15-23; Mark 7:5-8, 8:34-38; Luke 18:10-14, the Memory Verse being Matt. 6:9, "Our Father who art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy name.")

"Thou shalt not take the name of thy God in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh His name in vain." This is found in the 20th chapter of Exodus, and in Leviticus we read, "And ye shall not swear by My name falsely, neither shalt thou profane the name of thy God: I am the Lord."

In this modern world, where profanity comes so easily to the children, it is well to read these words and ponder them. Why is it that the habit of "taking God's name in vain" is so common these days? We revere God and call upon Him in all our troubles. The soldiers in the war prayed; their parents and friends at home prayed for them, and when they were lost, these same parents, sweethearts, friends called upon God to help them bear their grief. But lightly every day, on the street, in ordinary conversation, we hear His name spoken blasphemously.

Isaiah tells us what is pleasing in God's sight. Not the sacrifices that the Jews were wont to offer up: "To what purpose is the multitude of your sacrifices unto Me? saith the Lord: I am full of burnt offerings of rams, and the fat of fed beasts; and I delight not in the blood of bullocks, or of lambs, or of he goats. . . . Bring no more vain oblations; incense is an abomination unto Me."

Put Away Evil Things
"Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil. Learn to do well; seek judgement, relieve the oppressed, judge the fatherless, plead for the widow." Righteousness, love mercy; these are what the Lord requires of His people. Strange, is it not, that human beings are so constituted that they cannot follow this simple sounding rule?

The Pharisees and scribes who followed minutely the laws laid down in the Jewish tradition, asked Jesus why His disciples did not do as they did. Jesus answered, calling them hypocrites, and telling them that they honored Me with their lips, but their heart is far from Me. His disciples, He said, really did worship their Lord, but ye, He said, "hold the tradition of men as the washing of pots and cups; and many other such things ye do." In other words, performing the ceremonials, the washing of hands and utensils, and all the other trivial rules were more important in these men's minds than the heart worship God demanded.

Jesus warned His disciples of false prophets "which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly are ravening wolves." "By their fruits shall ye know them," He told them. A good tree will bring forth good fruit, but a bad tree will bring forth bad fruit. The poor tree will be cut down and thrown into the fire, so by their deeds should these false prophets be known to His followers.

On the subject of prayer, Jesus told His followers to go into their secret closets, shut the door and pray in quiet. The Lord already knows what you need and "thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly." Then He told them to pray thus, "Our Father, which art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy name."

Jesus Tells a Parable

Jesus illustrated His teachings on prayer by telling about the two men who went up to the temple to pray. The one was a Pharisee and the other a publican. The Pharisee stood upright and prayed thus, "God, I thank Thee, that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers or even as this publican." Then he recited how he fasted, gave tithes of all he possessed, etc., calling God's attention to his own righteousness—putting himself on the head, so to speak.

The publican stood far off, not even lifting his eyes to heaven, smiting himself on the breast he said, "God, be merciful to me a sinner."

"I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other; for every one that exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted."

Jesus called the people to Him with His disciples and told them, "Whoever will come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow Me."

"For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; but whosoever shall lose his life for My sake and the gospel's, the same shall save it."

"For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?"

"Whoever therefore shall be ashamed of Me and My words, of him shall the Son of Man be ashamed when He cometh in the glory of His Father with the holy angels."

Boy May Recover Sight By Operation

NEW YORK, July 25.—(INS)—A handsome 16-year-old Verona, Pa., youth was in Columbia-Presbyterian medical center today, hoping that a noted Spanish surgeon performed the last in a series of miracle operations to restore the boy's sight. Jack Wisnowski was stricken blind four years ago, and after repeated examinations his case was given up as hopeless.

Big Crowd To Witness Boxing Extravaganza Tonight

Taggart Stadium Attractions To Help Recreation

Gates At Stadium To Open At 7:15 P. M.; Band Concert To Precede Boxing Bout, Each Limited To Three Rounds; Some Seats Left; Net Funds Of Promotion To Be Turned Over To City Recreation Commission To Increase Facilities Here. Ticket Sale Up To Noon Shows Venture Will Prove Big Success.

Tonight will find Mr. and Mrs. New Castle, and, in many instances, their sons and daughters at Taggart stadium, all having gone there to aid in raising funds with which to increase recreational facilities in this city. There will be various features, including a band concert, but the chief magnet will be an eight-bout amateur boxing show which will begin at 8:30 p. m. E. D. T. The affair is being staged by the Civic Committee for Recreation and all net funds will be given to the City Recreation Commission. According to Co-Chairmen C. M. England and Ed Fritz, appointed by the City Recreation Commission to handle the colossal punch drama, the doors will open at 7:15 p. m. One of the features of this evening's event is the admission of children up to 16, but not over 25 cents through the Cunningham avenue entrance. For the "two hits" they will be able to view the same attraction their elders witness for $3.60, $2.40 and $1.20. However, all children, unless they have a higher-priced ticket, must occupy the west side.

Most of the 480 ring-side seats were disposed of yesterday but it is possible that a few more chairs may be placed during the day. Some good $2.40 pasteborders were yet available today while there are plenty of seats left for those who want to occupy the $1.20, or general admission sections in the concrete stadium. The ring has been so brightly illuminated that fans and fanettes will find it very easy to see the 16 boxers' every move in the eight bouts. The ring has been illuminated better than during any previous attraction there.

Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna reported this morning that he will have traffic police stationed at almost every corner while others will guard cars. Additional police in plain clothes and in uniform will be inside the stadium. School officers, operating under School Chief Robert Stewart, will also be on duty as will the force of Garvin Ligo, property custodian of the schools. Bob McBurney and his ushers will seat the people. B. N. Hanlon is in charge of all tickets and Arthur Alexander, recreation director, will have charge of gates.

State Commission in Charge While the fans are in their seats enjoying the music of Professor Joe Replogle's 35-piece band which will be interspersed with possible announcements, the 16 fighters, including several notables, will be in the dressing room, undergoing a physical examination, preparatory to the struggle in the roped circle. Tommy Leach, local matchmaker, Jimmie Dunn and Johnny Papke, of Cleveland, trainers, will be there with him. The State Athletic com-

Promptly at 8:30 p. m. the bell will be hit by Timekeeper William Fazzone and the punches will start and for the next approximate two hours people who have and also those who have not yet witnessed a regulated boxing affair, will see plenty of excitement. The rules of boxing will be enforced strictly and the spirit of fair play will permeate each contest. Several of the 16 in the eight bouts, each of three rounds duration, are said to be promising prospects for further rungs in the pugilistic ladder.

Following the show, the fans and fanettes will file out of the big concrete structure to enter cars. "Drive carefully. There will be thousands about and near the stadium. Safety first should be the motto of every motorist who uses his car tonight," Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna stated today.

Who Said Umpires Were Blind Men

COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—(INS)—It shouldn't happen to an umpire! But it did. For the second time this month the canny hurler has slapped a no-hit no-run whitewash on the league leaders. He pulled the trick on July 8 with a 2-0 win, and Tuesday night he rang the bell again, 5-0. Jake is so familiar with the interior of the country hall of fame that he may as well take up residence there. In Tuesday's game, the Nashua flinger sent ten men down swinging, and was cheated of a perfect game when his mates committed one error and he handed a free ticket to one batsman. Krakowski was his opponent and allowed five hits.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

FOUR of the several ring notables of decades ago who will be at tonight's Drama of Punch in Taggart stadium are of Irish extraction. They are: Jimmie Dunn, Johnny Kilbane, Tom McMahon and Patsy Brannigan. . . . Tommy Hey, Bridgeport, Conn., who hasn't missed any of the annual fist parties at Taggart stadium during the past several years, will with Joe Judge, also of Bridgeport, take in tonight's slambangs. Incidentally, Joe Judge, who was near Salter Burke, former middleweight, whom boxed Tom McMahon in Tom's hardest fight which was at Albany, N. Y. . . . Joe also knows Joe Smith, who once managed Battling Levinsky and Andy Martin, both of whom boxed for Here & There in Jolly bowl.

Charlie Frenzel reports he fished on the Trent river in Canada and caught a lot of fish. He said the accommodations there were ideal. . . . Persons not yet 16 years of age can see the bouts tonight for 25 cents if they go to the Cunningham avenue entrance to the stadium. If they occupy any other seat, the cost will be the same as for their elders. . . . Speaking of judges, the arbiters for tonight's fist fracas are regulars at The Arena, hence they're experienced. . . . Sayaji Rao, brother of the famous race horse, Dante, sold for $123,000, in England. The race was bought by the Gaekwar of Baroda. . . . Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano will not box tonight, their New York meeting having been postponed because of Zale having neuritis.

Ted Williams' remarkable batting feats this season in his return to action after three wartime years touches off an appropriate interrogation: "Is Williams as good as Ruth?" Now leading the American League in batting, homers, runs, bases and in other departments of offense, Williams is living up to the great things said about him in the past, and favorably compares with the Great Bambino in batting ability, if not in home hitting as yet. . . . Among those expected to get a heavy play in the Hambletonian at Goshen, N. Y., August 7, Walter Spencer, son of Spencer, winner of the 1928 Hambletonian. Harry Pownall is the colt's driver.

CHIP PLEASED TO REFEREE BOUT

"I'm glad I was named to referee one of tonight's bouts," said George Chip, former middleweight champ of the world today when it was announced that, instead of judging he would be a guest referee at the Johnny Kilbane, if last minute affairs do not prevent his appearance tonight. During Jolly bowl days Chip was the regular referee.

Durocher Thinks Brooklyn Will Be In Pennant Fight

Dodgers Defeat Cubs As Giants Turn Back Cards, Pirates Lose

By PAT ROBINSON
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, July 25.—Leo Durocher, peppy pilot of Brooklyn's pugnaacious Dodgers, was chuckling last night over recent stories which had his team already washed up as pennant contenders. Said the bane of all umpire's lies: "I see some say the Cubs are the bunch to fear and others have already conceded the pennant to the Cards. Well, either of them may win it at this, but we're still on top, aren't we? And as long as we're leading I don't see how anybody can write us off. "Maybe the Cards should win and maybe the Cubs have all the class there is—on paper. But they still pay off at the ball park. And out there my kids are pretty good." Dodgers Beat Cubs Those kids were good enough to beat back the first threat from the Cubs under the arc last night when the Dodgers turned back Charley Grimm's Cubs, 2 to 1. Meanwhile the Cards were having their usual trouble with the Giants and Lefty Dave Koslo. Dave scored his 11th victory on Johnny Mize's two-run homer off Johnny Beazley in the ninth. The final score, 1-3. That was No. 20 for Mize. Phils Bump Pirates Over in Philadelphia, Schoolboy Rowe hung up his 10th victory for the Phils by beating the Pirates, 2 to 0, on Jim Tabor's two-run homer off Nick Strincevich. And the Reds tightened their hold on fourth place by trimming the Braves 2 to 1. Bucky Walters spread nine hits nicely for his sixth straight victory. Both Cincinnati runs were due to Boston error.

Red Sox Win Over in the other circuit, the Red Sox held on to their 11th game lead by bouncing Orval Grove of the White Sox for 13 hits and a 4 to 1 decision to give Tex Hughson his 11th victory. Johnny Lindell's two-run homer gave Spud Chandler and the Yanks a 5-3 verdict over the Browns. Old Bobo Newson of the Senators hung a 1-0 shutout on the Tigers for whom he used to toil. The Athletics have made exactly six hits and no runs in two games against the Indians. Night before last Reynolds blanked them with three hits and yesterday Bob Feller also shut them out with three hits. Feller fanned nine to run his season's strike-outs to 229 as he breezed through, 1 to 0, for his 18th triumph.

Elks And Saints Playing Tonight The Colored Elks will play the St. Margarets club of the North County tonight at Booker T. Washington field, at 6 o'clock. It was announced by Business Manager Jimmie Hill. The two teams played a 4 1/2 inning game last night called by agreement.

United Engineering Leaps Into Lead In Sylvan Heights Race

Clean Sweep In Thursday Night's Matches Puts Them Half Point Ahead In Golf League

In spite of the fact that their ace, Ted Lach, was away at Denver competing in the National Public Links tournament, United Engineering and Foundry, who led the pack the greater part of the first half, only to falter in the home stretch, took the lead again in the Sylvan Heights golf league race by virtue of a clean sweep over Johnson Bronze, 6-0.

They are just a half point ahead of the strong Duce D'Abuzzi team, however, and will have to fight to maintain their position.

A new star appeared on the horizon last night, Joe Dudek of the Vernors team, shooting a sparkling 35 to be medalist for the night. He scored birdies on the first two holes.

Chuck Palmer, George Hahn and Chuck Perotti got themselves a par 36, with Lombardo, Jimmy Galtone and Carl McIltrout hitting 37's, and George Sargent, Stan Bukowski, Izzy Solomon, Hackett Kennedy, Dave Perry, Mitty Macleone and Frank Demario shooting 38's and Tony Ottaviani, Tony Lobozzo, Louie Malizia, Dom Dimico, Wainio and Frank Summers shooting 39's, which is a lot of good golf.

Duce D'Abuzzi, in second place, defeated Standard Steel Spring, 4-1, while Vernors took the measure of New Castle Moose, 4-2, as Sons of Italy was defeating Ellwood City Moose by a similar score. Universal Sanitary Manufacturing, drawing a bye and scoring no points for the evening, dropped down in the race but hope to do a comeback next week.

The standing:

|                         |        |
|-------------------------|--------|
| United Engineering      | 12 1/2 |

St. Margaret's and Clark of the Elks had the only extra-base wallop of the contests, both men collecting doubles.

Score by innings: R H E
Colored Elks . . . 201 2x-5 6 1

Brass Team Two First Half Champs

Steve Teplica's Warriors Emerge Victorious In First Half Of Johnson Bronze League

Brass No. 2 won the first half title in the Johnson Bronze race, but after three matches played in the second half, are three points behind Brass No. 1, runners up in the first half.

Matches are played every Tuesday evening at Sylvan Heights course and there is a great deal of rivalry between the four teams in the league.

The final standing at the end of the first half was Brass No. 2, 23; Brass No. 1, 24; Babbitt, 20; Third Turn, 16. Steve Teplica is captain of the No. 2 Brass team, which comprises John Shuster, Mike Carcilli, Dave Minnick, Herman Quigley and Babbitt.

An 18-hole match is planned on August 18 at Sylvan Heights between the night turn and day turn men. Between 60 and 70 golfers are expected to take part.

The standing at the end of the third match in the league race follows: Brass No. 1, 10 1/2; Brass No. 2, 7; Babbitt, 6 1/2; Third Turn, 6 1/2.

Antlerless Deer Permits Dollar

HARRISBURG, July 25.—(INS)—The Game Commission reported today that special permits to hunt antlerless deer in six counties from December 9 to 14 would cost $1 each.

The commission said only 31,600 permits would be issued at Harrisburg after October 1. Seventy-nine hundred antlerless deer may be killed in Carbon, Schuylkill, Luzerne, Susquehanna, Wayne and Wyoming counties during the special season.

Out-of-state hunters will not be granted permits.

Graziano Seeks New Opponent

NEW YORK, July 25.—(INS)—Rocky Graziano's managers will confer on possible opponents for an August 16 bout as a result of postponement of the Rock's scheduled 15-pounder tonight with Tony Zale.

The Graziano-Zale contest was postponed until Sept. 27 when boxing commission physicians found Tony suffering from intercostal myositis, a medical term meaning a crick in the back. Zale leaves today for his Gary, Ind., home where he will enter a hospital for special treatment.

West Middlesex Desires Contests

West Middlesex Merchants, last class A Mercer county baseball club would like to arrange games on a home and home basis with any team of similar stature in the New Castle district.

LICENSE RACKET

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—(INS)—California liquor enforcement officers are investigating what is feared to be "wholesale black-marketing" in the sale of liquor licenses.

One official recently told the State Board of Equalization that licenses which the state prints for $750 are selling for as much as $25,000. The board has refused to issue licenses in addition to those already outstanding.

Heavy-chemical and metal industries are closely linked in Glasgow, Scotland.

Senate Battle State Highlight

Expect Gov. Martin-Senator Guffey Campaign To Enliven Election

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, July 25.—(INS)—The senatorial contest between incumbent Joseph F. Guffey, of Pittsburgh, and Gov. Edward Martin, of Washington, may provide one of the high highlights of what leaders of both parties expect to be an apathetic general election campaign. Both candidates are "machine" products. Both candidates are well-schooled in the rough-and-tumble tactics of the political arena. The only drawback may be the governor's refusal to get into a slam bang contest with his Democratic opponent. The governor rarely loses his temper and when he does it is never in public. Name-calling, he has said, is not the way to win an election. He should know, he's been a politician for 46 years.

Guffey is no slouch at political battles but usually looks to his sister, Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, for a signal when the going is tough. Guffey has been called a machine politician "of the lowest order" but even his opponents must admit his loyalty. He is loyal to the ideals espoused by the late president and so far has not broken with President Truman. It is unlikely he will do so in an election year. His loyalty to new principles annoys his critics most.

Political leaders are not surprised when the four Democratic statewide candidates headed by U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Guffey, of Pittsburgh, for a third term, authorized the C. I. O. Political Action Committee to receive and spend money on their behalf during the fall election drive. The authorizations were filed with the State Elections Bureau by Harry Bover, of Reading, president of the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council (C. I. O.) and chairman of the State P. A. C. "This is your authorization to receive and disburse money and incur liability for election expenses within the limits of the Pennsylvania election code in the furtherance of my candidacy," the papers read. The 1937 election code provides that such authorizations must be filed and the funds can be collected or spent for candidates.

Increased public interest in national affairs has caused some political chieftains to predict that congressional contests this fall would be "hotter, harder-fought struggles." Democratic leaders have been reported planning to place "more emphasis than usual" on the congressional campaigns. The present Pennsylvania congressional delegation includes 19 Republicans and 14 Democrats.

The Pennsylvania Federation of Labor (A. F. L.) has endorsed President Truman's veto of what it called "the crippled O. P. A. bill." "The Pennsylvania Federation," P. F. L. organ, has called upon affiliated unions to fight for the continuance of price controls. "It is unthinkable that Congress should refuse to carry out promptly President Truman's recommendations for a year's extension of effective price control with continued subsidies to hold down prices of essential foods and with authority to remove controls as soon as production of any commodity is sufficient to meet demand," said P. F. L. President James L. McDevitt. "Any other course could only mean economic chaos in America."

The Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce has announced that the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce of the University of Pennsylvania was planning to introduce a course next fall for students seeking to become commercial and trade organization executives. Preliminary plans were formulated by Wharton school professors and officials of the state chamber and the Pennsylvania Commercial Secretaries' Association.

JITTERBUG IN BRAILLE PHILADELPHIA.—(INS)—At a USO club in Philadelphia, a blind service man approached hostess Dorothy Modski and said he wanted to learn to jitterbug. Ingenious Dorothy took off her shoes and told the youthful live fan to place his hands on her feet while she did the steps. He got the idea quickly and soon was able to reproduce the steps perfectly.

VA Is Not Final Authority On All Kinds Of Claims

Some Matters Pertaining To Claims In Case Of Deceased Veterans Handled Elsewhere

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—Considerable misunderstanding prevails among beneficiaries of deceased servicemen regarding the functions of the Veterans Administration claims service, it was disclosed here by the VA today. Current misinformation has led some beneficiaries to inquire concerning matters over which the VA has no jurisdiction.

The VA claims service answers questions about payment of death pensions and various other claims due and unpaid to the veteran at time of death. Information about the location of servicemen's graves, personal effects of those killed in service, arrangements for transporting servicemen's remains to this country, money due for service in armed forces at time of death and similar inquiries are handled by the pertinent military or naval service and cannot be answered by the VA.

Meetings Continue At Mahaffey Camp

MAHAFFEY, Pa., July 25.—Despite heavy rains, the early part of the week, interest is mounting at the annual encampment of the Western Pennsylvania District of the Christian and Missionary Alliance here at Mahaffey, in Clearfield county, 16 miles south east of Punxsutawney.

Campers are listening to the addresses of the missionaries of the denomination from the far flung enterprises of the Alliance throughout the length and breadth of the world. One of the features of the convention has been the stirring story of Mrs. Russell Deibler, whose husband was captured by the Japs and later meeting death in a prison camp.

Rev. E. C. Anderson, former pastor of the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle, in New Castle, is supervising the camp of some 2000 residents, seeing that every need of the camp is cared for and listening to problems that are presented to him by the over 200 pastors under his jurisdiction.

The camp will come to a close next Sunday with services the entire day.

Latin American Color Added To Pittsburgh Zoo

PITTSBURGH, July 25.—(INS)—Pittsburgh's Highland Park Zoo has taken on a bit of Latin-American color.

Among recent arrivals from "south of the border" were:

1. A pair of owl monkeys, from the Amazon region, named for their big, staring eyes.

2. A pair of ocelots—the wildest of the South American jungle tree-tops.

3. A Malay sun bear, among the smallest of the bear family. A male, he'll brighten the lives of two females already at the zoo.

The zoo also acquired a mate for its male eland. It's the largest of the African antelopes.

Death Penalty For Disclosures Of A-Bomb Secrets

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(INS)—Senate-House conferees on atomic control legislation Wednesday agreed on the death penalty for violations of security made with clear intent to injure the United States.

The conferees also decided to modify House changes in the McMahon bill to provide that the FBI investigate all employees of the atomic control commission but make the commission the final judge of whom it shall hire.

Sen. McMahon (D) Conn., chairman of the conference, said the group discussed House amendments providing for military participation in atomic control but had taken no vote on the subject.

The controversial House change permitting private ownership of atomic patents, he disclosed, has yet to be studied.

McMahon said the conferees hoped to complete their job of reconciling differences in the Senate and House versions by tomorrow.

Five of the new cases were Minneapolis residents and two were non-resident patients.

Resident cases now total 138 and non-resident 60, with nine deaths recorded in each classification. Three of the deaths occurred yesterday.

St. Paul has reported 42 resident and 16 non-resident polio cases since June 29.
